BOYS' CLUB IN MINSTRELSY.

ENJOYABLE PERFORMANCE GIVEN IN ELIOT HALL BEFORE APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE.

The Nonantum boys' club delighted a large audience of its friends with a minstrel performance in Eliot hall, Centre street, Wednesday evening.

That so much talent existed in the organization was revelation to the large gathering present, for the singing was of a highly pleasing quality and the mirth of keenly original and wholesome character. Hearty applause followed every number and there were frequent demands for encores.

The opening chorus was followed by "Every Darkey Had a Raglan On," sung by Zola Lemothe. "I Hates to get up early in de Morn," came next with "Jack" Campbell as the soloist. "Oh Mr. Moon" was sung by "Jack" Nally and "I Got de Blues" by "Charlie" Shea. Specialties were then introduced, including buck and wing dancing by Nally and Bergen, Landry, and Cranston and Saltus.

James McShen sang "Ise goin to live anyhow till I die" and Albert Hanson "Stay in Your Own Back Yard." "Bob" Miller scored a distinctive hit with "Josephine Ma Jo," and "Charlie Quigley" convulsed the audience with "Ain't Dat a Shame." The grand finale was finely rendered marching song and brought the evening's entertainment to a close.

Benjamin Richards was interlocutor, "Bob" Miller, Zola Lemothe and Charles Shea, tambores, and Charles Quigley, "Jack" Campbell and James McShen, bones. The chorus included Messrs. Flaherty, A. Hanson, T. Halfrey, J. Halfrey, Lovely, Lookin, J. Bartley, W. Bartley, Kinslea, Sampson, Richards, Landry, Murphy, Wood, W. Bennett, J. Bennett, Dargon, Varney, Marshall, Ryan, Riley, Rheal, Boyce, Chasson, F. Boudrot, H. Boudrot, Jones, T. Boudrot, Booth, Nally, Blake, Seeley, Delaney, P. Boudrot, J. Walsh, W. NEW CLUB AND CLUB HOUSE.

Northgate's Opening a Big Success.

Brilliant Acquisition to Newton Club's Life.

The Northgate Clubhouse, West Newton, was formally opened Tuesday evening with a reception that was attended by society folk of all Newton, together with those of many neighboring places. The Northgate Club is a recent acquisition to the club life of this city and judging from the cordial greeting extended it Tuesday evening the success and popularity of the new organization is assured.

Situated amid highly picturesque surroundings the club's pretty home occupies the center of an agreeable perspective as lovers of nature could wish, while the building itself is sufficiently equipped to meet all the requirements of an up-to-date country club.

The structure stands a short distance from the north end of Waltham street, West Newton, and is made easy of access by finely graded driveways and walks. Extensive lawns of brilliant greensward add to the attractiveness of the surroundings.

Leading from the main entrance of the clubhouse at the northeast end is the spacious hall that enters the large assembly floor. At either side are coat rooms, lavatories, etc.

The assembly hall is 30 x 45, has a seating capacity of 200 and reaches from the first floor to the roof of the building. It is finished white and gold. At the upper end is a musicians' gallery.

Among the other attractions of the new clubhouse are a cosy reading room in white and light green, a billiard room in green and red. These are provided with elaborate fire places and wide window seats.

On the second floor is a large card room and at the end of the corridor a balcony that commands the assembly hall. Kitchens and storage rooms are also on this floor.

The bowling alleys are in the basement and here too have been placed coat rooms and lavatories. Ample provision is made that spectators may watch proceedings on the alleys.

The interior walls of the building are constructed of hard pine and the floors of North Carolina pine and birch highly polished. The finishing is of white wood.

A complete system of electric lighting has been installed, and the entire ventilation of the building satisfactorily provided for.

Four tennis courts, two of gravel and two of turf, have been put in excellent condition and summer tournaments are contemplated.

The club was started with 72 members and has now on its roster 86. There is a large waiting list. The organization was put on a substantial footing through the generosity of H. B. Day of West Newton, who with Capt. S. Edward Howard organized it.

There are numbered in the membership residents of West Newton, Auburndale, Newtonville and Newton. The officers are Charles E. Hatfield, president; Charles A. Wyman, vice-president; Joseph A. Symonds, secretary and treasurer; and William C. Folsom, Charles A. Wyman, Richard E. Hunt, Dana Libby, Joseph N. Lorch, Wren S. Kilburn, Charles E. Hatfield, George W. Eddy and J. Whitney, governing committee.

The receiving party Tuesday evening stood beneath a bower of exotics and from 8 to 10.30 responded to the hearty congratulations of the several hundreds of guests. Those who received were Pres. and Mrs. Charles E. Hatfield, Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Day and Capt. and Mrs. S. Edward Howard.

The reception committee, the members of which acted as ushers, included the members of the governing committee and the following: Robert Chapman, Clin on L. Eddy, H. L. Fairbrother, Edward P. Hatch, George P. Hatch, Dr. N. Emmous Paige, A. Stuart Pratt and Sidney B. Thomas.

Death of Richard M. Wilson

Richard M. Wilson, a prominent Boston leather dealer, died Thursday of last week at his home, 76 Summer street, Newton Centre, after a long illness.

Mr. Wilson was a native of Boston, and educated in the public schools. Early in life he became interested in the hardware business, but later began handling shoe manufacturers' goods under the firm name of Wilson & Merrill. This name was changed to that of Wilson & Allen, the present firm, which has an office on South street, Boston.

Mr. Wilson was 64 years of age, and the oldest living member of the Boston Shoe Finders' Association, which at a meeting held Friday, adopted a series of resolutions appropriate to the occasion.

Mr. Wilson is survived by his widow, one son and two daughters. Funeral services were held at 2.30 Saturday at the family residence. Rev. Morgan Millar, pastor of the Newton Centre Unitarian church, officiated. Relatives, business associates and other friends were present. The interment was in the Newton cemetery.

ONE SESSION

EXTRACT FROM 1901 REPORT OF BROOKLINE, 1902, SCHOOL SESSIONS.

Many years ago the practice was begun in Brookline of holding but one session daily, owing to the fact that the school houses were so far apart and ministered to so wide a territory that pupils could not easily go to their homes for dinner and return during the intermission. This practice is usual everywhere in high schools for similar reasons, but is almost unknown in grammar and primary schools. Brookline being almost or quite alone in this particular. The conditions which led to the practice with us still continue to some extent, notably in the Heath school, but with the increase in population and in the number of school houses will soon have disappeared utterly, and the committee for many years have considered the general question whether the change of conditions, when it is complete, should lead to a corresponding change back to the well nigh universal practice elsewhere of two daily sessions five days in the week. Some years ago a committee consisting of Dr. Channing, and Messrs. Walker and Driscoll, sent letters of inquiry to a number of noted educators and medical men, to ascertain their opinions as to the relative merits of the two methods, and the weight of opinion was found to be decidedly in favor of two sessions, both as affecting the health and the proficiency of school children. It is clear upon a moment's reflection that five hours' continuous mental work as strenuous as is necessary to secure the greatest efficiency in the schools, would be a severe strain for a healthy man, and is still less suited to the still immature child in the grammar and primary grades. It is a provision of nature for their safety that the mind is apt to become dull and listless during the last hour or two of the session, and thus the health is preserved at the expense of progress. Moreover, the sessions in Brookline begin at half-past eight in the morning and continue to half-past one—and it is hardly practicable to begin earlier—with the result that children cannot take the noon meal with the family, and are about equally injured whether they go without a lunch, or take such a lunch as is practicable in school hours, thus preventing a healthy appetite when they reach their homes at about two o'clock. On the other hand, with the morning session so shortened that the pupil could take the noon meal at home, and a sufficient intermission for out-of-door exercise, and change of scene, the afternoon session would involve no serious tension of the mind, and would be as profitable as the morning session. A mere statement of the facts leads almost inevitably to the conclusion that, considered merely as a school question, two sessions for children of the intermediate grades are preferable. On the other hand, changes in themselves are always objectionable, and this particular change would be unwelcome to teachers in most cases, particularly, as owing to circumstances for which they are not to blame, many of them live out of town, and would interfere with uses of the afternoon which are prized by both pupils and parents; so that the question is not purely a school question. While acknowledging the general principle that during a child's school days the claims of the school ought to be paramount, these objections are felt by the school committee to be serious. The board contemplate no hasty action in so important a matter, nor think the time ripe for a change in any case; but they do think the time has come for considering a change in the grammar and primary schools, while continuing the present single session in the high school and in the kindergartens.

The Possibilities of Legitimate Mining.

$1,000 invested in the great Red Boy mine of eastern Oregon 5 years ago, is worth $200,000 today, besides having paid many thousands in dividends during that time. The principal vein in this property is known as the Golden Monarch vein. The Red Boy Co. has this vein for 1,500 feet; the Oregon Monarch Gold Mining Co., which is a direct south-end extension of the great Red Boy mine, has the same vein for a distance of 4,500 feet. The shaft of the Red Boy Co. is on the Golden Monarch vein only 100 feet from the north-end line of the Oregon Monarch property and develops the Oregon as well as the Red Boy.

We believe the possibilities of any investment in the Oregon Monarch Co. equal to that of the Red Boy 5 years ago. WE ARE OFFERING OREGON MONARCH STOCK FOR THE MONTH OF APRIL AT 20c. A SHARE. For particulars address

TENTH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

HAPPY EVENT CELEBRATED BY MR. AND MRS. OTIS T. PETTEE LAST SATURDAY AT THEIR HOME IN UPPER FALLS.

At their handsome residence, 1155 Boylston street, Newton Upper Falls last Saturday afternoon and evening, Mr. and Mrs. Otis T. Pettee celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary.

It was a very happy occasion, made notable by the presence of a large number of friends, many of whom came from long distances, to pay their respects and to extend their good wishes to the host and hostess. Over 400 invitations had been issued. Reception hours were from 2 to 4, 5 to 7, 8 to 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Pettee stood at the head of the receiving line and welcomed their guests with the most gracious hospitality. The splendid parlors, reception rooms and halls were adorned with fresh cut flowers and potted plants, and the piazzas were decorated with palms and green branches.

Another pleasant entertainment for the guests was the inspection of the bird conservatory, in which is displayed specimens of all kinds of feathered songsters, excellent examples of the taxidermist's art. Lovers of the "choir invisible" lingered long at this feature of the Pettee home.

During the evening a very clever poem, appropriate to and especially written for the occasion, was read by Rev. Geo. G. Phipps of Newton Highlands.

The anniversary gifts were of a highly useful and somewhat humorous character, partaking of tinware in various fantastic shapes.

Among the many graceful and artistic anniversary gifts for the bride was a necklace and handsome locket containing miniature pictures of the beautiful twin sisters, children of Mrs. Pettee's great-grandparents.

The occasion was also one for many happy reunions among the older residents of that section of the suburbs, several venerable friends coming for the additional motive of meeting the senior Mr. Pettee, who is a pioneer of Newton, and one of the founders of the Saco and Pettee machine works at Upper Falls.

Miss Florence Vandervoort of Dorchester, who was maid of honor at the wedding, and Mr. Geo. M. Bridges of Newtonville, who was groomsmen, assisted Mr. and Mrs. Pettee in receiving at the anniversary.

Among the messages of congratulation were many from far distances, among them being two or three cablegrams from Europe. An orchestra discoursed sweet music throughout the festivities, and a substantial luncheon was served.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS

Boston Museum:—With Monday, May 5, "Are You a Mason?" will open the fourth and last week of the greatest comedy success that the Boston Museum has known in a long time, and all New England has only a few more opportunities to enjoy this great laughing success.

People from out of town will do well to order their tickets by mail, for everybody seems intent on seeing this merry production, and those who wait until they come to Boston just before the performance may meet with disappointment. It is a jolly comedy, perfectly acted, for Rich and Harris have selected a cast which could not be improved upon in any particular. It should be remembered that the engagement cannot possibly be extended under any circumstances.

Tremont Theatre—Frank Daniels' return engagement at the Tremont Theatre—of which next week is the last—has proved even more successful than the October visit to the same house and Barnet's delightful operatic comedy has renewed all its former popularity. At the time of Mr. Daniels' first presentation of "Miss Simplicity" it was generally agreed that he had never before been equipped with a part that fitted his uniquely unctuous personality so snugly as does that of the valet crowned king in spite of himself. On May 12 the celebrated French Opera Company from New Orleans will begin an engagement of a single week at the Tremont. This organization includes above 100 people with a big corps de ballet.

Park Theatre—It seems like old times to see "Aunt Abby," (Neil Burgess), "Cold Molasses," "Tim," "Taggs," and all the rest in "The County Fair," drawing a crowded house every night at the Park Theatre. The third week of the engagement of Mr. Burgess in the "New County Fair," began last Monday with the customary scenes of enthusiasm—no, they were not the customary scenes, neither on the stage nor in the audience; on the stage a number of new scenes were introduced. In the play, while the scenes of enthusiasm on the part of the audience are proportionately greater, of special interest among the features are the moving pictures, which connect the exit from "Aunt Abby's" husking bee and the dance in the barn, with the actual race scene, at the close of the play. The fourth week commences next Monday, May 4, and there is every indication of continued crowded attendances.

Police Paragraphs.

For assault upon Josephine McDowell, colored, Belle Brown, colored, was fined $10 in court Monday morning.

Michael T. Brady was arrested about midnight Saturday by Patrolman Goode, who found him with a bicycle on the Boston & Albany tracks near the Washington street bridge, Newton. It was afterwards learned that Brady stole the wheel from Mr. Cordingley of Auburndale. Brady was given seven months in the house of correction.

Richard M. Colwell, complained of by Patrolman McLaughlin, was arraigned in court Monday morning for vagrancy and sentenced to the state farm at Bridgewater.

The police were informed last Friday evening of the larceny of two bicycles, the property of C.O. Walker and Daniel Driscoll, which had been taken from in front of the Hyde school building at Newton Highlands.

"MR. BOB," BY ELIOT GUILD.

SUCCESSFUL PRESENTATION IN HUNNEWELL CLUBHOUSE OF DELIGHTFUL TWO ACT COMEDY BY CLEVER YOUNG WOMEN.

Only ladies were permitted to witness the production of "Mr. Bob," a two-act comedy, in the Hunnewell clubhouse, Monday afternoon, but there was a large audience. The play was attractively staged, and the different parts were carefully and skilfully interpreted. Between the acts there were songs by Miss Vera Curtis and piano solos by Mrs. Wm. Brewster Ely. The cast:

Philip Roydon, Miss Helen Minerva Cobb Robert Brown, Miss Ethel Sears Gilman Jenkins, (Miss Rebecca's butler,) Miss Rose Loring Rebecca Luke, (a maiden lady,) Miss Florence Lenore Heard Katherine Rogers, (her niece,) Miss Helen Zabriske Howes Marion Bryant, (Katherine's friend,) Miss Gladys Hawthorne Curtis Patty, (Miss Rebecca's maid,) Miss Carolyn Simmons Eddy

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Light and Life.

Years ago, a well known and much esteemed missionary magazine took for its beautiful title, "Life and Light;" very expressive, in the spiritual sense, of the closely related divine gifts of life to the whole being, through living light to the soul.

Reversing the order of the words, and applying them, now, only in their natural sense, we may enjoy a bit of simple thinking on light and life as regards the close relation of abundant light to vigorous life.

Though not yet quite as fully thought of as it well might be, light is truly as essential to healthy life as are warmth, pure air and water, wholesome food, good drainage, timely sleep and proper exercise. Like many another good thing, it can, however, be had in perfection only out of doors and in the country. For there, we find ourselves by day the centre of a glorious hemisphere of sky, with light on every side, while even in the lightest rooms, we see how small is the combined area of all the windows, as compared with the total surface of walls and ceiling, which even if replaced by plate glass, would give us, not quite the equal of out door light.

A fresh reminder of these simple principles was gained one bright forenoon last winter by taking a short stroll on a circuit from the post office, while waiting for something to be done. The circuit embraced about forty houses, with probably not less than ten times that number of easily visible windows, in rooms for all uses, and facing in all directions.

Such being the highly favorable opportunity, it was very gratifying to see, in place of a dead uniformity of position for the shades, that these were in every variety of position from being drawn down to the bottom of the window, to being raised to its top, with every intermediate height, according to the light at the time, the purpose of the room, and the needs or convenience of the occupants.

This was obviously as it should be, since the shades, like gas or draft regulators, are properly only easily adjustable light regulators, suited to the varying conditions of the light, occupancy, hour, or season.

Just here, there enters another point of great practical interest. The visible sky is considerably above the tops of the nearer houses and trees, and some trees, even in winter, often considerably obstruct the light. The best, that is, the fullest light therefore comes from the upper portions of the sky, and, which is always desirable, above the level of the eyes. It thence comes slanting downward through the windows; and therefore gives a good light on table tops, etc., only when coming through the upper half of the window—unless one is sitting at a window. While, generally, the light through the lower half, only, is fairly suitable only to children on the floor.

Thus the light from the upper half of a window is, doubtless twice as good, for eyes and all best purposes, as that from the lower half.

When, however, a room is unoccupied, a different principle applies, and shades may be drawn down enough to prevent fading. But, if let it be things, and not persons, though by a little thoughtful screening or moving, both persons and things can be well cared for.

Besides, as the highest authorities tell us, light is the best germicide. "Therefore, we cannot well amend the original law: 'Let there be Light,' as the indispensable condition for all comely life, nor can we do better than to joyfully follow the wholesome precept: 'Walk as children of light.'"

Communication.

Atlantic City, April 29th, 1902.

Mr. Editor:—

Perhaps a little about this place may be of interest to your readers. A certain newspaper lately stated that Atlantic City was the seaside resort of all the wealthy inhabitants of the United States; to this statement many exceptions might be taken, but that it is the objective point of the great wealth of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, must be admitted. For the Philadelphian it is their principal if not only seaside resort. Thither came thousands in course of a year, although it is 56 miles away and fare round trip $1.75. Many come down for a few days or even over the Sabbath, New Englanders are more scarce than either Southerners or Westerners. But what, you may ask, are the special attractions of the place. First the climate, the thermometer seldom goes below 82 degrees, and through March and April is from 60 to 70 degrees. Although situated on the Atlantic coast it has no east winds, the nearness of the Gulf stream also has its effect. The view of the ocean is unsurpassed if equalled; at any other resort you have an uninterrupted view for miles on either side while in front you can see to a distance of 20 miles, and vessels are seldom seen any nearer in. The beach is sandy and of great extent, and fine bathing begins 1st of June, but in a storm or high wind the view is grand. During the high winds and tide, evening of 9th, the surf broke upon the beach sending up fountains of spray for 40 feet. It is perhaps as a health resort, the place is most noted. Consumptives are here in great numbers yet one seldom hears a cough; bronchial troubles, are relieved, asthma, hay fever, neuralgia and malarial diseases send many to this place, and all are benefited by the dry invigorating salt air. It is a frequent remark: "I feel like a new being the few days I have been here, I can sleep and eat now and even take long walks."

Many who when they come use the rolling chairs, of which there are hundreds, in a few weeks discard them and walk longer or shorter distances on the board walk. There are no woe be gone faces, all look alive and interested. But you ask what is there to interest the well folks? There is the board walk. This is a heavy plank walk built upon an iron trestles and supports, it is about 100 feet wide and 50 miles long, on ocean side; it is open with exception of four piers, with covered pavilions. Three of these charge admission fees and have fine bands with other attractions, varying every week. Sousa and his band will be here in May. The longest of these piers, Young's, was 2200 feet, others about 1000 feet. The 4th, or Heinz's pier is free, has fine sun parlor; one can easily fancy oneself when on it as out on the ocean, so surrounded are you by the water. On the land side of the board walk are built a great number of small wooden buildings. Also entrances to large hotels. The stores are occupied by branches of New York and Philadelphia stores for sale of rugs and costly bric-a-brac, and large sums are paid for many of these by visitors, but it is impossible to enumerate the many of these attractions. As to the city itself, it covers about 300 on more acres, is quite compactly built, has a number of fine buildings of brick and stone, although mostly of wood. There are 600 or more hotels, large and small, from New Marlborough with every convenience for guests, holding 600, to those holding only 50; the population of the city is about 30,000; there are two lines of steam and one trolley road, a dozen or more churches of all denominations, banks, etc., stores without number for the 200,000 visitors in summer must be fed. From September to July are all pleasant months here, but in July and August all say the place is too crowded for comfort. But no doubt our readers' minds will revert to the late fire. Yes, it was a sad affair, but already slightness is coming from chaos, the territory covered was about 3 acres, on the board walk. 2 blocks, 2 blocks one way and half block in the rear. The buildings were for most part old, of wood very closely built and whilst destroying many were not so valuable, two of the hotels were large, others small ones. Already plans are made for new fire proof hotels and stores and like other places Atlantic City will be the better for the dreadful calamity. A great year had been prophesied. Easter, which is the great day of the year, was best ever known, 125,000 were on the board walk at one time; 82,000 came down in the trains, all hotels were filled and a great season was expected. The fire made at first some difference but no doubt by the 1st of May guests will flock here again. We were all very anxious whilst the fire raged, but thankful that it was day time and the wind, although blowing a gale carried the cinders out into the ocean, else no one can tell where it might have stopped. The local firemen worked nobly but it was a relief when 6 engine steamers came from Camden and Philadelphia, covering the distance in 55 minutes. The cause of the fire is not certain yet, but has been given as a cook throwing some burning fat out a rear window which set some rubbish on fire; others say a dog knocked over a gasoline stove, but the owner says "her dog had too much sense to do such a thing," and there are some signs that point to a fire bug. There is a good fire service here, 4 steamers, but it is to be made better, and a plan is on foot to have large pipes that will take the water directly from the ocean. So Atlantic City will for many years to come be the mecca of those needing its invigorating air.

A Nightmare

Gives point to the fact that excessive or irregular eating disturbs the digestion. Nightmare or night hag has its day time correspondence in the undue fullness after eating, with the belchings and sour or bitter rising so often experienced after too hasty or too hearty eating.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. When these diseases are cured, the whole body shares in the increased strength derived from food properly digested and perfectly assimilated.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have been of great benefit to me," writes (Prof.) Pleasant A. Oliver, of Viola, Fulton Co., Ark. "Before I used the above mentioned remedies my sleep was not sound; digestion bad; a continued feeling of misery. I now feel like a new man. Any one in need of medical treatment for nasal catarrh could do no better than to take treatment of Dr. R. V. Pierce. I know his medicines are all right in this class of diseases."

Sometimes a dealer tempted by the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines will offer the customer a substitute as being "just as good" as the "Discovery." It is better for him because it pays better, but it is not as good for you, if you want the medicine that has cured others, and which you believe will cure you.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

A PUBLIC BATH HOUSE.

In view of the present movement towards a public bath house in Newton, it would seem advisable to recognize a few of the obstacles such a project will encounter.

The bath house at Brookline cost in the vicinity of $50,000 at a time when building materials were much cheaper than today. It is fair to assume therefore that a bath house suitable for Newton will cost at least $25,000.

Eliminating the question of location and all the village differences that subject will encounter, the financial features alone are worthy of consideration.

The debt limit of the city is less than $100,000. Pressing for settlement in the near future are matters of a new fire station and equipment at Chestnut Hill, costing about $20,000; the drainage of the Boylston street improvement now under way, $25,000; the city's share of the land damages on this street, $20,000; the probable demand for macadam surfacing on Boylston street, $30,000; new school houses at Newton Highlands and the Upper Falls, and the city's share of possible widenings demanded by street railway locations at Waban, Newton Centre and Auburndale.

Unless there develops enough public spirit to enable this very desirable improvement to be made by private subscription, it would seem as if the erection of a public bath house was not a matter of the near future.

The matter of a public convenience at Nonantum square is of the utmost importance to the thousands of people who daily pass through it. About three years ago an appropriation for the erection of a public urinal was made by the aldermen and is even now available, although no action towards construction has been taken by the city officials.

For several years the toilet accommodations furnished at the semi-official street railway waiting room have partially served the public need, and our attention has been called to the fact that a strict compliance with our recent editorial advocating the refusal of Common Victualer licenses to all fruit dealers would in this particular case, be a very serious inconvenience.

In view of all the circumstances, and which, by the way are not paralleled elsewhere in the city, it would seem as if the present licenses in Nonantum square ought to be continued until the city has done its full duty in the matter of providing a public urinal for both sexes.

A movement to abolish the tariff on beef would be extremely popular. License your dog.

PUBLIC BATHS.

Paper Read by Mrs. Laura B. Drake

Before the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs.

The importance of the subject of public baths cannot be overestimated, either on the ground of public well being or of political economy. They are instruments of the most powerful order for elevating the masses and stimulating a desire for self-improvement. To make an habitually dirty man clean is to create in his inmost soul, even if but temporarily, a desire to rise out of the squalor and filth with which he may be surrounded. It is only the public bath which can be made serviceable to this end. The houses of the poor have not and cannot have the benefits of properly fitted baths. It is this vast mass of humanity that can only be reached by inducements held out by the public bath.

I should hesitate to say that the desire for bathing is always an acquired one, but it is certain that till people have made some progress in sanitary education, the desire if it exists, produces no appreciable results. The upper and middle classes in England and some parts of the continent for generations were without means of bathing and did not miss what they had not learned to want. It is only reasonable, therefore, to conclude that as long as any considerable portion of the lower classes are left without the means of bathing, they will not feel the want of it. The upper and middle classes have had to be educated up to a bathing point that is, till a healthy desire for bathing was awakened, and this they were able to gratify. For the lower classes, it is not enough to educate them till such a desire is aroused; means to gratify it must be provided for them. In truth, it is impossible to prove to individuals of this class that they want baths by mere process of reasoning. We must bring the baths to their doors to induce them to bathe and experience the comfort of clean skins.

This is not mere philanthropy. To promote cleanliness among the masses is to promote the health, wealth and happiness of all classes of the community. No great amount of argument will be required to prove the truth of this assertion.

The results of bringing the baths to the doors of the very poor are very gratifying. Mr. Morse of the Boston Commission on Baths tells me that the people through the summer bath houses and that the year around, they stand in line at the Dover St. Baths, coal heavers, boot blacks, street laborers, all eager for an opportunity to cleanse themselves as they could not at home in a cold room with a pail of cold water.

Few people, except those living in favored districts, realize the importance and the delight of swimming. Learning to swim strengthens, purifies and beautifies the body, develops chest capacity and lung power, and as a remedy for round shouldered and hollow chested people has no equal as a means of curing many forms of nervous disease, especially among women, it is being recommended by many physicians of eminence. The Romans, instead of saying a man could neither read or write, said he neither knew how to read or swim. Surely it may be called a duty of parents to attend to this part of the physical education of their children. Societies and institutions for the recovery and rescue of drowning persons are very praiseworthy, but would not humanity be the gainer if adjoining each of the establishments of this nature, a swimming school were to be opened in which persons of all ages and classes might learn to save themselves? If the mothers of Newton would only realize the risk their children, who cannot swim, are running when they go up on our river canoes! Those who have lived in canoes from childhood say that man or woman who cannot swim, but will go canoeing is a fool; and the row boats on the Charles are with the same lines and dimensions as the canoes. Yet, not only do men and women and girls and boys go out in canoes who do not know anything about swimming, but many is the young man we see with a girl in his canoe, who handles his paddle so awkwardly that it is very evident that he knows very little about its proper use, and we wonder as we watch them, if he can get her safely back. Several times we have known of such couples being towed back because the young man found himself unable to accomplish the feat.

The River Police in which the citizens of Newton and especially the ladies, have taken such an interest, do their work and cover their beats faithfully, but they cannot cover the whole river all the time. And their superintendent, Mr. Habelagh, says that it cannot be expected of them to save all cases. Whenever they see anyone who seems to be so ignorant of the handling of boats as to be in danger, they take his canoe away and put him ashore. In spite of this fact, they took forty two people, out of the water last summer and knew of as many more who were pulled out by nearby canoeists. Mr. Habelagh says that he considers that it was their "great good luck alone," that no one was drowned, as the year before, in spite of their efforts, almost a dozen people lost their lives between Newton Lower Falls and Waltham. The river is so crooked that the patrol can only see a very small part of his beat at a time, and in many places a very serious accident might take place only a few yards from him and no hint of it reach him. It is criminally negligent to allow our young people to go out in canoes as ilily prepared for very probable accidents as most of them are.

And adequate preparation for canoeing cannot be obtained by picking up a knowledge of swimming at the seashore. One must have instruction, not only in swimming, but in life-saving. The most expert swimmers are owned in attempting to save life, simply because they do not know how to handle a frantic person in the water. One or two terrible examples of this have occurred on our river. When a boat capsizes, if the young man knew as much about a canoe as he should, he would know that the safest and surest way of saving the girl is to push the canoe to her and by means of the canoe, hold her up till help come. Instead of that, he leaves his canoe and goes to her. She, knowing nothing of swimming and completely losing her head, winds her arms and legs about him pinioning him that he is helpless and probably drowned. But, did he know enough about swimming and life-saving, he would approach her in such a way as to give her no chance to get hold of him, and watching his opportunity, so catch hold of her as to pinion her arms to her side and swim ashore with her.

Gov. Dole Visits Newton.

Governor Sanford B. Dole of Hawaii passed several hours in this city Wednesday. He came out about 4 and remained for a little over an hour at the home of Rev. Gorham D. Gilman on Baldwin street. Later he was the guest of Hon. A. S. Twombly, who gave an informal dinner party in the governor's honor. Among those invited were prominent men of the city, including several clergymen.

Literary Notes.

Some of the large pictures in the May National are: portrait of Cecil Rhodes, President Roosevelt and General Wood—a snap shot; Grant's grandson and his fiancée; diplomats and their wives; Secretary and Miss Root on horseback; Pension Commissioner Ware and Internal Revenue Commissioner Yerkes; Gen'l's Gomez and Garcia and President Palma; Honorable Palmer, Chicago's millionaire; Mayor Wells of St. Louis; Professor Boring of Kentucky; Governor Toole of Montana; Mayor Collins and Admiral Schley—a snap shot; Professor Pearson, the latest distinguished heretic; Richard Mansfield, the foremost American tragedian; Sir Henry Irving and Ellen Terry, and many other noted actors and actresses, and dozens of other personages of present interest.

William M. Salter opens the May Atlantic with a carefully studied and clearly analyzed paper, "Second Thoughts on the Treatment of Anarchy." He treats the subject in a dispassionate manner that could not have been possible a few months earlier, when McKinley was assassinated. John Corbin, the author of "An American at Oxford," contributes the first of a series of papers on outdoor life in a delightful article entitled "The Modern Chivalry," in which he enlarges the modern passion for field sports. Prof. John Trowbridge's "The Study of the Infinite Small" is both improving and interesting. It details the results of recent investigations in developing a new, material unit far smaller than the atom. Walter H. Page, formerly editor of the Atlantic, contributes "The Rebuilding of Old Commonwealths," a valuable paper on the present conditions and developments, of the South,—the result of his own personal travel and observation, he himself being a native of the South. Vida Scudder contributes a careful discussion of "A Hidden Weakness in Democracy;" and Prof. J. Lawrence Laughlin offers an analysis of the modern developments of Higher Commercial Education," as shown in many American collegiate courses. Elizabeth Taylor sketches trout fishing in the "Faro Islands as a Night with the Mouse's Brother," and Frances Duncan treats of "Rhododendron Culture in America." T. S. Perry furnishes an ably written and instructive paper on the late John Pike, which combines an entertaining character-painting with careful literary criticism. Fiction includes the closing chapters of George W. Cable's "Bylow Hill," Katrina Trask's "My Lady's Garden," and Jennette Lee's "Three Chances." Poetry is furnished by Mary Messer, Richard Burton, Grace Richardson and others; the number closing with the entertaining Contributors' Club as usual.

There are several notable pictorial features of peculiarly timely interest and also others of an artistic flavor in the Magazine Number of The Outlook for May. In the first class may be named that describing District Attorney Jerome's official home on the East Side of New York, and that of the King of Spain, who this month became King in act as well as in name, by General Stewart L. Woodford, formerly United States Minister to Spain. Art and Music are respectively represented by an article on the great Spanish painter Sorolla, written by one of his pupils and illustrated by reproductions of paintings and original sketches, and by a thoughtful critical and personal article on the work of Grieg by Daniel Gregory Mason. Western interests and commercial interests are brought to the front in Mr. Ray Stannard Baker's "The Commerce of the Great Lakes," which is as well informed as it is readable, and is made picturesque by a dozen or more illustrations relating to the shipping and commerce of the Lakes. Articles relating to the spring season of "Mr. John Burroughs' out-of-door essay, and poem called "A Spray of Arbutus," and Mr. J. H. McFarland's "A Story of Some Maples," which is illustrated with many exceedingly beautiful photographs of trees and their flowers, taken by the author.

A series which should have been named "The Enchantments of our Modern Aladdins," if considered solely from the point of view of romance, is begun in the May smopolitan. But these sketches possess as well as business interest equally for clerk and capitalist, for manufacturer, farmer and merchant. The man who would understand the drift of our news in finance and business must read these lives, so full of incident, of chance, of hard labor and marvelous success. As it is, the series receives only the common-place name of "Captains of Industry." Each character is treated by a noted writer familiar with his subject.

An air of Spring pervades Scribner's Magazine from May. It contains a beautiful drawing in color by Henry McCarter to illustrate Heine's "My Song;" there is a breezy salt-water narrative by James B. Connolly, who gives his adventures "On a North Sea Smack;" an exciting "Fight with a Muskallonge," by John R. Rathbone, and there is an "Early May" poem by John Burroughs. Fiction is most entertainingly represented in the two great serials by Richard Harding Davis and F. Hopkinson Smith, and by five short stories of great variety in subject and character. The short stories introduce James Robt. Church, the famous surgeon of the Rough Riders, who has written a sketch of the Far West called "The Man and the Cat." There is an exciting tale of the "Red-Luk Squad" in the New York Fire Department, told by Harvey J. O'Higgins. Nelson Lloyd tells a most amusing story of a hog-guessing contest, entitled "The Third and a Half Generation." Cornelia Atwood Pratt tells the story of a Western woman who became a great artist, and Charles Warren suggests a pathetic little tragedy entitled "How It Ends with Friends." There is no man whose opinion on foreign affairs carries greater weight than Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. Last summer he made an extensive trip through Russia; and he embodies his impressions in an article which radically differs from the views recently expressed in this Magazine.

ST. JOHN'S PARISH.

Proposed Chapel For Episcopalians Of Newtonville.

St. John's church, Newtonville, is engaged in the joyous task of building for itself a home. Ground was broken last week on the parish lot, corner of Otis street and Lowell avenue, and the work is now well under way. No one will appreciate this fact more than those who for five years have faithfully attended the services, held in a hall. The building, for which Mr. Henry Vaughan has drawn the plans, will seat two hundred people, and will have space in the chancel for a choir of twenty-four. Leading out of the chancel there will be the usual clergy vestry, while upstairs the rector will have a study. In the basement is a large room divided in the middle by folding doors, which on Sundays is to serve for the choir and for a part of the Sunday school, and on week days for the meetings of the various guilds. A flower room has also been arranged in the basement for the use of the chancel committee. Thus the needs of a growing parish will in some measure be met.

The chapel is to be built of granite, the gift of a friend, and will be roofed with slate of a dark green shade. The interior will be finished in hard wood with hard wood beams supporting the roof. A beautiful stained glass window, also a gift, will adorn the east end of the chapel. Mr. Vaughan, who is especially happy in ecclesiastical architecture, has produced a building of great beauty of line, and one which will doubtless appeal to the taste of all. The building when completed will cost $10,000 exclusive of the stone and furnishings. Of this sum $6,000 has been raised. The land is already bought and paid for.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Hearings on Street Railway Locations at Newton Centre and Sewers in Nonantum and Newtonville.

Sensible Recommendations From Mayor for Police Department
Brickett Refused a Common Victualler's License.

At the regular meeting of the aldermen last Monday evening President Weed was in the chair and all the board except Alderman Pulsiter were present.

HEARINGS.

At the hearing on taking land for sewers in Adams street and Chandler street, ex-Alderman J. C. Ivy said he represented nearly all the abutters on the street. The matter had been before the aldermen several times at the instance of the board of health, and none of the residents wanted a sewer. Both these streets were unaccepted, and the abutters stood ready to give the land, if the city would build the streets, and release them from sewer assessments.

Similar remarks were made by Wm. H. Mague, Hugh Murnaghan, Patrick Brennan, John Brennan, Patrick Brennan, Timothy Kinsale, James Delaney and J. J. Delaney and the hearing was closed.

At the hearing on taking land for sewer in Edinboro street, ex-Alderman Reuben Forknall for several abutters objected as there was no real call for the sewer to what he termed a "cow pasture."

Mr. C. F. Avery said he had 3 acres of woods abutting on this street and squirrels and birds do not need sewers.

Mr. Wm. Jenks said he owned two small houses with large cesspools and had no need of a sewer. Nobody wants a sewer and as both sides of the street are occupied by laboring men, the assessments would be a hardship.

Timothy Mead also objected and the hearing was closed.

No one appeared at the hearings upon taking land for sewer in Farlow and Beechcroft roads and on the petition of Fanning Printing Co. to locate an 8 horse power gas engine on High street.

The hearings on the petition of 50 legal citizens that a street railway location in Cypress and Jackson streets be granted the Newton & Boston Co. and the petition of the Boston & Worcester Co. for the same locations were combined.

Pres. A. D. Claffin said that he was interested in the petition of the 50 citizens and said his company had asked for this route some 2 years ago. If granted his company intends to run cars from the Brookline line through Newton Centre, Newtonville to Newton. A side location is sufficient on Cypress street.

Pres. Wm. M. Butler of the Boston & Worcester Co. said his petition was the outcome of the hearing held in March on the Parker street route and was intended to obviate the objections raised at that time. He called attention to the fact that the Newton Co. petition followed them, and presented petitions of C. R. Brown and 209 others in favor of his petition.

Pres. Wm. M. Noble of the Newton Centre Improvement Society represented the remonstrants to the granting of any location on Cypress street, and requested careful scrutiny of names on petition, saying one name was that of a hostler. Mr. Noble read letters from Prof. N. E. Wood and J. F. Robba requesting withdrawal of names from the petition. He didn't believe it was time to grant a street railway towards Boylston street and when the time would come there were other routes better for the people, the railways and the city. He claimed that Cypress street was narrow, much used for driving, that the railway would break up the use of the street and cause a serious question about widening. He favored Langley road as a preferable route, and accommodate more people. The grade crossing of the railroad would not inconvenience the Worcester Co. and if the Newton Co. was to have the location, no harm would be done by waiting 5 years. Mr. Noble's remarks were illustrated with a map of Cypress street, showing property of remonstrants in black.

Ex-Alderman Dwight Chester recalled the history of Cypress street and believed it a serious matter to put a railway in a narrow street, and cited the experience of Paul street.

Mr. Ludwig Gerhard spoke upon the inadequate service towards Boston from Newton Centre, and favored the Worcester petition.

Mr. W. M. Mick objected to placing the Institution land as remonstrating against a railway. He did not believe it would injure the hill-side to widen Cypress street ten feet. He wanted a road to Oak Hill and favored Mr. Claffin's Co. He thought 5 years a long time to wait for conveniences needed for the present, and thought Cypress street could be easily used by the street railway.

Mr. W. R. Wade said the people beyond Cypress street needed the railway and should be considered. He did not believe the widening of the street a serious matter and suggested filling an adjoining pond hole with the material excavated.

Wm. H. Coolidge, Esq., said the question was purely one of public convenience. If decided in the affirmative the Newton Co. would carry the children from Thompsonville to the High school for half fare. There was no call from Newton people to go to West Roxbury. Oak Hill should connect with Newton Highlands. If location is granted Worcester Co., Newton Centre would only have another connection with Boston.

Pres. Butler said his company wished to connect West Roxbury and Newton, and offered to exchange transfers with the Newton companies, on school tickets.

The hearings were closed at 9.35. Remonstrances of W. A. Munroe et al.; of Mrs. G. S. Clark, et al; of F.

F. Morton et al., and Mellen Bray et al., against street railway in Cypress street, and a petition of F. A. Day et al., that no location be given to outside street railway companies until the present Newton street railway organization has had an opportunity to meet the reasonable needs of the travelling public and the lawful requirements of the proper authorities, were referred to the Committee on Public Franchises.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE MAYOR.

A message from the Mayor relative to inconsistency of Chap. 315, Acts of 1902, to regulate the speed and operation of automobiles and the present regulations of the aldermen were referred to the committee on rules, etc.

A communication that parcels of land owned by city might be sold with special reference to pipe yard lot on Austin street was referred to committee on public works.

A communication recommending that police officers be paid salaries from $2 to $3 per diem on the basis of length of service and a message transmitting recommendation of Chief of Police that authority be granted to reward police officers by additional vacations for conspicuous service were referred to the committee on departments.

A communication transmitting a petition and recommending favorable action thereon in reference to the passage of an act authorizing the city of Newton to lay a sewer in Beacon street, Boston, for a territory East of Chestnut Hill, was received.

Communications from the school committee requesting slate blackboards in the Claffin school and $1,451.25 for furnishing the new Thompsonville school were referred to the committee on public works.

Similar action was taken on petitions of Vivian Greenidge for sidewalk on Bowdoin street; S. J. Rand, et al., for sidewalk on Channing street; of H. L. Burrage for sewer in Temple street, and of S. B. Hinckley et al., for sewer in Beacon street. Petitions of W. C. Shearer, Robert Weir, John Paracenti, Cole Williams and T. H. Smith for wagon licenses; of Patrick Cruise and T. H. Smith for carriage licenses; of Violet Davis for intelligence office license; of Benedict Martin for street musician license; of L. E. Bova and J. W. Collins for common victuallers' licenses; of the Telephone Co. for attachments in Derby street, Waltham street, Clark street and Washington street were referred to the public franchise committee, hearings being ordered where necessary for May 14, at 8 p. m.

Petitions of F. S. Kempton and A. L. Harris for common victuallers' licenses; of C. F. and P. A. Ward to move a building across Ward street, and of J. H. Carpenter for carriage licenses were granted without reference.

A hearing was ordered for June 2 on petition of J. A. Nevins for a 5 horse power engine on California street. A petition of Geo. F. Guilford et al., for $100 for Thos. Burnett Camp for Memorial Day was referred to the finance committee.

A recess was then taken.

REPORTS.

Upon reassembling the following committee reports were received:

FINANCE—Recommending $600 additional for health department for removal of garbage; favorable to orders for $1385 for water mains in Waldorf, Farlow and Beechcroft road; for $345 for water mains in Marlboro street and Warwick road, and to sewer construction in Beacon street.

PUBLIC FRANCHISES—Favorable to granting Telephone Co. location for pole on Grove street and attachments on Ballard and Beacon streets.

PUBLIC WORKS—Recommending taking land for sewers in Upland and Oakwood roads; favorable to sidewalk on Chase street; favorable to water mains on Waldorf, Farlow, Beechcroft, Warwick roads and Marlboro street.

The following committee reports were accepted:

PUBLIC FRANCHISES—Recommending leave to withdraw on pole location to Telephone Co. In Ward street and for attachments on same street by Gas Co.; granting Geo. W. Dearborn a common victualler's license (fee remitted); granting David Kearney and C. F. Driscoll wagon licenses, and favorable to granting Fanning Printing Co. license for 8 horse power engine on High street.

RULES, ETC.—Recommending approval of records to date.

COMMON VICTUALLERS.

The unanimous report of the Public Franchise committee recommending leave to withdraw on common victuallers' applications of Louis Tabaldi, M. C. Valente, G. E. Valente, J. A. Simone Co. and Damiano Scinicariello, was also accepted.

The majority report of the same committee opposing a common victuallers' license to Esther Brickett was presented by Alderman Lowe. Alderman Trowbridge said he did not wish to present a minority report, but he had made a thorough investigation and found that the Elevated Co. had 366 cars in Nonantum square each Sunday with over 8400 passengers. The Newton lines had 212 cars. Many people have to wait for connections, and the starter says the waiting room is much used in winter.

Half of Brickett's rent is paid by the street railways and she is obliged to keep open until 11 p. m. and light, warm and clean the waiting room, and toilet accommodations. It is essential that these crowds of people should have sanitary facilities, and as the legislature is now modifying the blue law, Alderman Trowbridge favored postponing action until the next meeting and the motion was adopted.

Subsequently a motion of Alderman Lowe to reconsider the refusal to grant other common victuallers' licenses was the subject of much debate.

Alderman Webster said the report was made as a matter of principle and all petitioners should be treated alike. Alderman Brown was not satisfied with delaying action in the Brickett case, and Alderman Webster said there was a distinction between selling peanuts and feeding people.

Alderman Lowe said the petitioners would not keep open unless they could sell, which the proposed law would allow them to do, if licensed.

Alderman Baker thought it unfair to allow some fruit dealers to sell and not others, and believed the street railway companies should provide waiting rooms.

Alderman Day called attention to the fact that the proposed law did not authorize the sale of fruit, being limited to soda water, ice cream and confectionery.

Alderman Hubbard said the druggists were heartily in favor of closing on Sundays, but their business was a necessity. He believed that waiting rooms were a necessity also, and that the police should stop the sale of fruit on Sunday. He favored a waiting room at Nonantum square, saying the druggists there were even now inconvenienced by the people waiting for cars.

Alderman Webster said the refusal to license would not prevent their keeping open on Sunday as it only prohibited the selling of fruit, etc.

Alderman Hubbard thought it a hardship to keep a place open and not allow the selling of legitimate articles.

Alderman Lowe read the present law and Alderman Day the proposed law now being enacted, and reconsideration was refused by a hand vote.

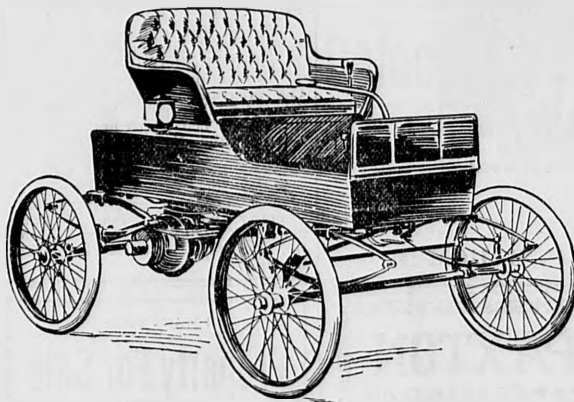

The postponement of action on the Brickett petition was then reconsidered.

Alderman Trowbridge was sorry that action had been forced on this matter and presented a minority report favoring the grant of the license. He read letters from the street railway companies as to traffic in Nonantum square and claimed it was used by more people than any other part of the city. Brickett can and does serve sandwiches and coffee.

Alderman Hubbard said the place was a necessity, 500 people being often accommodated on Sunday.

Alderman Lowe opposed the license as Brickett had no facilities, and no rights that other petitioners do not have. He urged the expenditure of the present appropriation for a public convenience and thought the railway company should provide waiting rooms.

Mr. Rich said in an address before the Miners' Congress in Boise City, Idaho, and later published in the "National Banker," that there was as much money invested in mining as in banking and that mining pays much handsomer dividends; that the number of dividend paying mining companies is larger than all other combined industries is fully sustained by statistics; that mining produces quicker and greater returns than any other industrial pursuit is evidenced by the scores of multi-millionaires, and that the immense fortunes of the Mackays, the Taylors, the Fields, the Sharons, the Baldwin's, the Dalys, the Clarks, the Hizes, and hundreds of others, are due to mining cannot be denied.

DROWNED IN CHARLES RIVER

R. LEHMAN, A SOMERVILLE YOUNG MAN, LOST HIS LIFE IN A CANOEING ACCIDENT LAST SUNDAY.

The first drowning accident since the opening of the canoeing season on the Newton section of the upper Charles river occurred Sunday afternoon at a point near the Weston bridge, Auburndale. The victim was a young man whose name is Rudolph Lehman, Jr., of 124a Cross street, Somerville.

Miss Alma Cummings of 89 Green street, Charlestown, who was his companion, and two young men who went to their rescue at the time of the accident, narrowly escaped a similar fate.

About 5.15 Lehman and Miss Cummings were in a canoe and passing along the river but a short distance from the headquarters of the Metropolitan park commission police, when their craft overturned. From what cause cannot be learned. It may have been that they encountered a strong current but no other theory has been offered.

The struggles of the young man and woman in the water were seen by two young men who were in a canoe nearby. Immediately they jumped into the water and sought to drag forth Lehman and Miss Cummings. It is said that Lehman sank almost immediately and that when he came to the surface for the first time he was caught by one of the rescuers. There was a fierce struggle and the second young man was forced to break away from Lehman to save his own life.

The two rescuers turned their attention to the young woman and the trio were well along when Patrolman George Coombs of the Metropolitan Park hastened to their aid. By exerting every effort Coombs managed to bring the young woman and the man from the water.

Immediately Coombs and Patrolman W. H. Chaisson and Arthur Hardy started to grapple for the body of Lehman. Within 15 minutes they had secured it. Efforts at resuscitation were continued for 45 minutes but without success.

The young woman and the two young men, were much overcome but soon rallied. Miss Cummings was cared for at a neighboring residence until called for by relatives.

The young men who made such a gallant attempt at rescue are said to live in Cambridge and one of them is named Thomas.

Communication.

What we must have in the city of Newton in a central location, easily reached from all parts of the city, is a swimming pool and bathhouse, similar to that in Brookline. There, the tub and rain baths, with soap and towels are free to residents of Brookline, Wednesdays and Saturdays, other days a small fee is charged. The policemen, teachers and two grades in the grammar schools have free instruction in swimming. After a complete course, which includes the different strokes, diving and life saving, the Mass. Humane Society gives a certificate to each child. This arouses an interest in the children. Their love of rivalry and competition is encouraged, and the result is that no boy and very few girls are willing to be left behind in the speedy acquisition of the art of swimming. Every one is obliged to take a bath before he or she can enter the water, and no one is allowed to even spit in the water, self-cleansing cuspidors being arranged about the tank on a level with the surface of the pool, obviating the necessity of defiling the water in any way. Thus, one swim affords a lesson in cleanliness both of person and manners than which it would be hard to think of a better one.

The practical result of this training is shown by the frequency with which we find in the papers in the summer, the account of a life saved at some summer resort by a pupil of the Brookline swimming school. Members of the swimming club have done good work in life-saving at lakeside and seashore, and lady pupils have not been behind the men in this respect. One instance is especially worthy of mention: A Brookline lady, seeing a man sink in water beyond his depth, swam out, dived and brought up and to shore the unconscious man, whom she afterwards succeeded, by determined and persistent work, in restoring to life, the only witnesses being several small and badly frightened children.

But we should have in our Newton swimming bath more than they have in Brookline. We should have in canoe kept in the tank in which the children can play and which they can learn to handle, learn how to keep upright when some one is trying to tip them out, learn to empty in deep water, to become, in fact, thoroughly acquainted with what will tip one over and what may be done to avoid an upset.

They must learn also that a canoe when properly handled is as good a life-buoy as one can have, and if they will stick to that instead of swimming away from it, as so many do on the river, they are perfectly safe. With this kind of preparation, before they are old enough to want to go on the river, we may let our children go with easy minds, feeling sure that there is no possibility of a serious accident.

RUN OVER AND KILLED

ACCIDENT ON BOYLSTON STREET BOULEVARD OF WHICH JEREMIAH DRISCOLL, 10 YEARS OLD, WAS THE VICTIM.

Jeremiah Driscoll, the 10-year-old son of John Driscoll of Winchester street, Newton Highlands, was run over and killed on the Boylston street boulevard near the corner of Walnut street last Saturday afternoon.

About 2.25 according to the report, the little fellow boarded the car of a construction train that has been erected for carrying earth from one part of the street to another. He was playing about the moving train, it is said, when he slipped between the cars and was run over by the wheels.

Workmen lost no time in removing the body but the little fellow lived only a few minutes. A physician was summoned but was unable to render any aid. Medical Examiner Mead viewed the remains.

Washington Letter.

May 5th, 1902.

The long period of waiting in the Senate is approaching an end and the strain, under which republican senators and the correspondents of the republic press have labored, is to be relieved. The orders of Senator Lodge, in his capacity of manager on the floor of the Senate of the Philippine Civil bill, have been "hold your fire until you see the whites of their eyes," but the whites of a good many democratic eyeballs are now in view and the first skirmish of the republican forces was made on Friday by Senator Pritchard of North Carolina.

Behind the smoke of Senator Pritchard's skirmish line Mr. Lodge has been getting his big guns into line and today at two o'clock they will go into action with telling effect. The Senator from Massachusetts has prepared his speech very carefully and it is calculated to play havoc in the democratic ranks. Mr. Lodge will admit the cruelties which have been practiced in the Philippines by American soldiers, but he will point out that they all occurred from one and-a-half to two years ago. Then he will cite the atrocities practiced on American soldiers by the Filipinos, outrages and barbarities which, to use the Senator's own words, "would make a marble saint thirst for vengeance." Space will not permit an enumeration of the frightful atrocities which have been perpetrated on the American boys and which have made their comrades, crazed with the sight of their brothers' suffering, overstep, in a very few instances, the bounds of civilized warfare. I have seen the Senator's speech and when the American people have read it their horror at the pictures which have been drawn for their imagination by democratic partisans will be turned to pity, and to gratification that the American forces have shown themselves so tolerant, so merciful and so well-disciplined in the face of such frightful provocation. What the democrats have been exultingly contemplating as magnificent material for the campaign will be shown of its oratorical flowers and made to stand out as partisan vilification of American soldiers, under the furious batteries of the junior Senator from Massachusetts.

The testimony of Messrs. Havemeyer and Donner, respectively president and treasurer of the Sugar Trust, before the Committee on Relations with Cuba, have failed to discover the sensational facts which have been so confidently counted on by the opponents of Cuban reciprocity. The statements of both of these gentlemen, made under oath, have revealed the fact that the Trust has no holdings of Cuban sugar and that reciprocity will operate to the disadvantage rather than to the advantage of the Trust, but Cuban reciprocity, according to their statements, will not. Mr. Mott, purchaser of raw sugar for the Company, cited with effect the results of admitting free Porto Rican sugar as ample evidence of the benefit to the planters of a reduction of the tariff.

The refusal of the Attorney General to meet in conference the representatives of the beef trust is in entire accordance with the views of the President and with the action already taken by the Department of Justice. Mr. Knox has begun this suit in the belief that the men who compose the trust have violated the law and have conspired to raise the price of a commodity which is important to every consumer. There is nothing about which he wishes to confer. He has brought suit in the courts and results will stand on the facts there demonstrated. It is not the position of the government to compromise with law breakers and it now remains to the courts to determine if the Attorney General is correct in his assumption that the law has been violated. Having demonstrated the correctness of his position, Mr. Knox will leave it to the courts to enforce the law and fix the penalty.

Thursday witnessed the exit of Secretary Long from the Cabinet and his succession by Mr. Moody of Massachusetts as the new secretary of the navy. It was with manifest and freely expressed relief that Mr. Long vacated the office, which the Spanish war had made particularly onerous. In fact, had it not been for his disinclination to "retire under fire," Mr. Long would have long before resigned from the Cabinet. Mr. and Mrs. Long left Washington immediately for their Massachusetts home.

On Friday the President went to Annapolis and presented to the graduating cadets their diplomas. The presentation was preceded by the characteristic speech in which Mr. Roosevelt charged the young men with the responsibilities of their future positions and emphasized the fact that the slightest inattention to duty on their part might result disastrously to the country which they had sworn to serve.

PUT TIE ON THE RAILS

ACT OF TWO BOYS THAT MIGHT HAVE CAUSED A BAD ACCIDENT WAS PROMPTLY DISCOVERED—TENDER AGES ALONE PREVENTS PROSECUTION.

George Purches, aged 9, who lives on Washington street, Boston, and Frank Dunn, aged 8, of West Canton street, that city, ran away from their homes last Saturday and did considerable mischief before they were taken in charge by relatives.

Had the engineer of the Boston bound accommodation that left Newton for Boston at 4.35 p. m. Saturday last, not seen an obstruction that these two boys had placed on the rails a serious accident might have been the result.

The engineer had his watchful eye on the roadbed and saw ahead of him at a point between Newton and Faneuil, a few yards west of the Boston line, a tie on the track. He stopped the train while the obstruction was removed by the train crew.

The station agent at Faneuil was notified. He remembered having seen two small boys walking on the track, who were apparently headed for Newton. Police headquarters were notified and Patrolmen Conroy and Quilty were detailed from station 1 to make an investigation.

The patrolmen started down the Boston & Albany tracks and near the St. James street bridge came across Purches and Dunn. The youths were arrested as runaways and sent to headquarters.

On their own admission the boys placed the tie on the rails and then left the spot. Purches said that Dunn did it but that he helped him.

The parents of the boys were notified, as was the Boston & Albany. It is said that there will be no prosecution on account of the tender ages of the pair.

Y. M. C. A. Exhibition.

Association hall was taxed to its utmost capacity on Thursday evening of last week, the occasion of the May day entertainment of the members of the Young Men's Christian Association.

The first part of the program consisted of musical selections by the Association Orchestra and piano duets by Mr. Carl Ellison and Mr. Willard Harding. These numbers were greatly appreciated and warmly applauded. The second half was devoted to the work of the physical department and was opened by the Physical Director, Mr. E. C. Wyatt, with an interesting exhibition of torch swinging.

Following this came the athletic statuary and posing by Messrs. Harry McNutt, Percy Morton, C. M. Pulson and Thos. M. Shaw.

Shot put, sprint, bicycle start, discus thrower, dead gladiator, the tumbler, the human bridge, exercises with 50 lb. dumb bell, lifting 50 lb. bells, one in each hand, boxing and sandow poses by Thos. M. Shaw. Exhibition of parallel bar work by Messrs. Leonard and Hallett; tumbling events, by Morton and Hallett.

Ex-President F. H. Tucker after a few fitting remarks presented seven silver prize cups to these successful athletes of the year's work: W. D. Hallett, 150 points; George Bradley, 116 points; E. L. Nichols, 107 points; Percy R. Morton, 104 points; Nichols E. L.; Melbourne Wood, 97; D. Leonard, 79.

The largest number of points possible was 162. After the presentation of these prizes the General Secretary spoke of the appreciation which the officers of the Association had for the manner in which Mr. E. C. Wyatt had performed his work as physical director and in behalf of the members of the Association presented him with a gold watch and chain. The regard which the members of the gymnasium class had for their leader was readily shown in the rousing cheers which were given for him.

Mr. Wyatt was completely surprised but responded in a few fitting words.

"The Singers" Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Singers was held Thursday evening of last week at the residence of Mr. George A. Burdett at Newton Centre. At a business session these officers were elected: Col. E. H. Haskell, president; Mr. W. C. Bray, vice president; Mr. H. J. Ide, secretary; Mr. Charles Copeland, treasurer; Mr. Frederick Williams, librarian; Mr. Arthur Badger, Mrs. W. R. Holt, Mrs. R. R. Truitt, Mr. A. H. Leonard and Mr. Samuel Ward committee on association membership; Mr. Sidney Farwell, Mrs. Loring Brooks and Mrs. F. N. Robbins, committee on music. A informal entertainment program followed contributed by a number of the members and later refreshments were served.

The opening exercises of the new Thayer and contiguous wards will be held at the Newton hospital, Thursday, May 15th, at 3 p. m. Hon. J. R. Leeson will preside, Rev. Julian C. Jaynes will give an address on the work of the late Dr. Thayer in connection with the hospital and Mayor John W. Weeks, Rev. Dr. Shinn and others will participate. Music will be rendered. After 4 o'clock the new wards will be open to the public and tea will be served by the ladies of the Hospital Aid Association.

Thompson-Gould

Miss Ella A. Gould, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Gould of West Newton was married Monday evening to Henry E. Thompson, also of West Newton. The ceremony was performed at 7.30 at 57 Parsons street, by Rev. Samuel G. Dunham. The bridesmaids were Irving F. Gould and E. L. Thompson. A reception was held from 8 to 10 at the Gould residence, at which Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Thompson were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Gould and Mrs. A. M. Thompson, the groom's mother.

TIRED OUT.

There's many a farmer's wife sits on the porch in the growing shadows of a summer evening, knowing to the full what it is to feel tired out, as if there was not another ounce of effort left in her. But she knows how sound her slumber will be and how refreshed the morning will find her. That's the tiredness of a healthy woman. But it's another thing for the sick woman to feel tired out. Rest only seems to increase her suffering. Just as in profound silence a discord jars the ear more forcibly, so now that she has stopped moving about, this tired woman feels more acutely the aching back and throbbing nerves.

Sick women, hundreds of thousands of them, have been made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"Words cannot tell what I suffered for thirteen years with uterine trouble and dragging-down pains through my hips and back," writes Mrs. John Dickson, of Grenfell, Assiniboia Dist., N. W. Ter. "I can't describe the misery it was to be on my feet long at a time. I could not eat nor sleep. Often I wished to die. Then I saw Dr. Pierce's medicines advertised and thought I would try them. Had not taken one bottle till I was feeling well. After I had taken five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I was like a new woman. Could do all I wished to do and all my own work."

POLICE.

The recommendation of the Mayor to establish a graded salary list for police officers will remedy the present unjust discrimination between reserve and regular patrolmen, and work for harmony in the department.

One other important advantage to follow such a step is the probable improvement in the character of applicants for the force. An examination of the civil service lists for the past fifteen years shows a decided falling off in the average ability of applicants since the reserve law of 1896 went into effect. Since that date but three applicants have obtained a percentage above 88, while the average before that time was distinctly better. The reason is not far to seek. Men will not leave a good position with average pay for a job on the police force where there may not be any increase of pay from $2.25 per day. A possibility of $3 per day to be obtained solely through five years of faithful service, furnishes an incentive to men of intelligence and character.

The mayor's recommendations should be adopted at once, for this is for no other reason.

THE SEWER QUESTION.

The matter of constructing sewers in certain thickly settled portions of the city, has been before the city government for several years.

Two streets in the Nonantum district in particular were designated by the board of health at least six years ago, but the city has as yet failed to take a determined stand in the matter.

Financial or political considerations should not be allowed to prevent work which is demanded for the preservation of the public health. These two streets, with inadequate sanitary conveniences, may prove a breeding spot for disease which will negate the good done by the entire sewer system of the city.

Life, health, and happiness all demand that every possible means should be taken in the thickly settled districts to uphold the hands of the health department.

The suggestion of the Chief of Police that authority be given to reward meritorious work of police officers by additional grants of vacation privileges is very reasonable and proper. With punishments for violations of police regulations it would seem as if rewards should be given for any specially good work.

The aldermen used the axe on the fruit dealers who masquerade as common victuallers.

City Hall Notes.

The assessors are hard at work.

The settlements on account of Boylston street are progressing finely.

On Tuesday morning eight applicants for positions as clerks and eleven applicants for positions as police patrolmen were examined by civil service examiners in city hall.

According to the board of health's mortality statistics there were 34 deaths in this city during April; 17 male and 17 female. The rate was 11.22 per 1,000. Twenty-five causes were given. On May 1 the board had on hand 8 cases of diphtheria, 2 of scarlet fever and 114 of measles.

Col. Kingsbury represented the Loyal Legion at the funeral of Dr. Z. B. Adams of So. Framingham, last Tuesday.

City Collector Raultett has his annual sale for unpaid taxes next Monday.

The reservoir grounds are being cleared up and improved.

J. F. Humphrey and H. G. Brinckhoff were high men at duplicate whist on Monday evening. These whists will continue through June.

The crack Roseville A. A. bowlers of Newark, N. J., will roll the club team this evening. A large attendance is expected.

THE ENTERTAINMENT CLUB

WILL GIVE A VAUDEVILLE PERFORMANCE IN CHANNING CHURCH PARLORS WEDNESDAY EVENING OF NEXT WEEK—FINE PROGRAM OFFERED.

To paraphrase a well-established truth, "one success deserves another." That the force of this may be emphasized the Entertainment Club has prepared an attractive program for a vaudeville which will be given Wednesday evening of next week (May 14), in the parlors of the Channing Unitarian church on Eldredge street, Newton.

The gratifying results of last year's vaudeville by this popular organization are well remembered and a good attendance at the coming performance is readily assured.

It is announced that the numbers will be "musical and otherwise" and they are offered as follows: "Villain and Victim," a dramatic incident, by Miss Florence W. Hills and Mr. Leverett Bentley; "The Wonderful," by Mr. Charles L. Bixby, Jr.; "The Minstrels," by Messrs. Ralph W. Angier, Guy B. Haskell and Jack Farquhar; readings, Miss Grace E. Cook; "Sunflower Chorus," Mrs. Ralph C. Emery, soloist; "Songs and Funny Sayings," Messrs. Ralph S. Howe and Chess W. Flinn.

The Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., will meet at the Newton Clubhouse, Newtonville, Saturday, May tenth, 2.30 to 5.30 o'clock. The program will consist of music, recitations and a social hour. The hostesses will be Mrs. A. H. Clifford, Mrs. D. J. Barber, Mrs. E. P. Bosson, Mrs. J. H. Green, Miss E. M. Sibley, Mrs. Hugh Campbell.

The gentlemen's night and whist party of the Ladies' Home Circle was held last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. F. W. Jones on Chask avenue, Auburndale. Play was at 17 tables and the prizes were won by Mrs. H. W. Crafts, Mrs. Albert Plummer, Mrs. W. J. Forbush, Mrs. George Keyes and Mrs. John Burr. A collection followed.

The May party held in Temple hall, Newtonville, Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the Newtonville Women's Guild, was attended by about 175 children and their parents. The industrial committee of the guild in charge of the affair, consisted of Mrs. Edwin Cram, chairman; Mrs. Chas. S. Dennison, Mrs. W. H. Lucas, Mrs. Henry F. Ross, Mrs. Mark Taylor, Mrs. Austin H. Decatur, Mrs. George Clapp, Mrs. George L. Keyes, Mrs. Frank L. Nagle, Mrs. F. W. Pray, Mrs. Alfred Doane, Mrs. S. J. Spear, Mrs. George W. Bishop, Mrs. J. A. Fenno and Mrs. W. S. Slocum. The dancing was in charge of Miss Mary Field. Mr. Dudley Fitch was pianist, and F. T. Hyslop catered. The party netted $36 for the charitable work of the guild.

A meeting of the Newton Woman Suffrage League will be held next Tuesday evening at the Highland Club house, Newton Highlands. Rev. Ida C. Hultin of Allston will speak on "Woman as a Factor in Social Evolution." There will be a discussion, music, reception and a social hour.

The Home Circle will hold their annual meeting next Wednesday at the usual church parlor. A full attendance requested.

Letter to C. C. Butler of Auburndale.

Dear Sir: One coat of Devco is better than two of mixed paint.

The American House, at Tannersville, (Catskill Mts.) N. Y., Chas. L. Wiltse, had two coats of Mixed Paint five years ago; last spring had two more coats of the same.

Owner was going to use Devco but got his Mixed Paint a few cents less. Right across the street, Charles Haner painted one coat of Devco at the same time—last spring.

The Haner house is the better job; but wait five years.

The point of the story is that Wiltse is sorry already. He has learned something that not one man in a thousand knows—that a gallon of one kind of paint can contain twice as much paint as a gallon of another kind of paint.

You can't afford to put on another paint even if you have it given to you. At the same time, you see, that Mixed Paint appears to have worn five years—give the devil his due.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devco & Co.

P. S. J. M. Briggs & Son, Newton, and W. E. Tomlinson, West Newton, McWain & Son, Newton Centre, sell our paint.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS

"The waltz queens," as the peerless performers in the U. S. Talma Ladies' Military Band were dubbed by the managers of the Charleston Exposition, are coming to Boston. Under the baton of the eminent lady director, Helen May Butler, these handsome and accomplished artists will be seen and heard at Austin & Stone's museum, where their engagement opens on May 12 for a fortnight. The band is made up of 20 accomplished young women instrumentalists, including seven soloists, and there is no woman's band in America, at least, to compare with this. They will play while here the music that the masses love and can appreciate and understand.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

State House Letter.

(Special to the Graphic)
Boston, April 30.

Tomorrow the General Court enters upon its fifth month of service for 1902. It is appreciably behind its predecessor, the General Court of 1901, in every particular but one. It has enacted some forty more measures than last year's legislature up to this date, but has killed nearly 100 less, and in the points of matters reported and to be acted upon it is far behind.

The measure of the highest importance to the people of the metropolitan district is still in the air. The Hon. J. Richard Carter of Newton and his associates on the Associated Board of Trade, with the backing of the Public Franchise League, the Mayor of Boston and the Governor of the Commonwealth, confronts the Boston Elevated Railway company, over the provisions of the subway bill it has submitted.

The bill is simple in its provisions, though complicated enough as to details. It asks for construction of the proposed Washington street subway by the transit commission at the expense of the city of Boston, the subway to be its property forever; a lease to the elevated company for 25 years at 4 per cent. of the cost; rights to lease to some other company if the elevated does not take the lease; a referendum to the people of Boston.

The contention of the Elevated railway people is against so high a rental; in favor of a longer lease; and of course, were it possible, in favor of private ownership, though this does not appear possible.

Mr. Dana is recorded as a dissenter on a bill favorably reported by the judiciary committee in relation to the assumption of risks by employees. Mr. Bullard is having a great deal of trouble in convincing the lower branch that the reports of the railroad committee deserve to be ratified, and hence a number of measures have been substituted for the adverse report of this body. The bill to give the railroad commissioners jurisdiction to fix charges on certain southern Massachusetts steamship lines was the latest to be so substituted. But as in the case of the two-cent-a-mile bill, the Senate is pretty apt to vindicate the railroad committee, so that he can take courage.

The sub-committee of the committees on railroads and street railways reported to the full committee a few days since their draft of a bill to provide for continuing the work of eliminating grade crossings, in accordance with the recommendations of the Governor, which included the suggestion that the street railway become a fourth party in meeting the expense. The general features of the new bill contemplate the appropriation of $5,000,000 in addition to that already appropriated and expended by the Commonwealth, not over $500,000 to be expended in any one year. The railroads are to pay not exceeding 65 per cent. of the expense of an elimination; cities and towns not exceeding ten per cent; street railways not exceeding 15 per cent; and the Commonwealth the balance. Street railway companies are to be permitted to fund the expense thus incurred as a part of their franchise and property.

The bill to permit casualty insurance companies to do boiler insurance, favorably reported by the insurance committee with Mr. Dana as a dissenter, and opposed in the house by Mr. Bullard, was rejected by the senate last week, but later, on motion of Senator Frost of Lawrence, was reconsidered and put over until this week.

On Thursday of last week Mr. Bullard, for the committee on railroads, reported leave to withdraw on the petition of Edward L. Pickard for legislation to provide for an additional appropriation for the abolition of grade crossings. This means no disrespect to Mr. Pickard nor the city of Newton, the real petitioner, but it indicates that what is desired will be obtained through action on the Governor's recommendation.

Mr. Dana's committee, judiciary, has reported reference to the next General Court on a number of petitions for legislation to regulate the display of signs, posters and advertisements near public parks, parkways and boulevards. The metropolitan affairs committee has taken the same action on similar petitions. The report has been tabled by Mr. Bullard to await the report on the main bill.

The Governor has approved the bill for a two year tenure in the office of mayor of Newton. The house has engrossed the bill to reorganize the Newton board of assessors, and it is now in the calendar of the Senate.

Mr. Dana is in charge of the adverse reports of the judiciary committee on the most drastic employers' liability bills, which were reported with several members dissenting. The bill to provide for the abolition of the death penalty, on which Mr. Dana dissents, still remains on the table of the senate. There will doubtless be quite a debate upon it one of these days. MANN.

Boston, May 7.

The House of Representatives has adopted a ten minute rule as to speeches, which is one of the few indications we have that it contemplates proration at some not very distant date. Today is supposedly the final day for receiving reports of committees, but it is a rather significant as well as lamentable fact that this is over a month later than the date when the Legislature of 1901 terminated its policy of a general extension of time for reports. The committee on rules evidently believed it to be a wise policy to grant a general extension rather than to adopt special orders for particular days; but as on May first, there were still 200 matters remaining in the dockets of committee, a condition of affairs unprecedented in the history of the General Court, it is very evident that the policy has not been a good one.

Week by week, the fact becomes more and more impressive, that Representative Dana of Newton is growing in influence on Beacon Hill.

His voice so often heard in debate, and, as a rule, the cause which he espouses is the one which wins. It is usually the case that when a member is new he only takes upon matters which have to do with the work of his particular committee, or which effect his own district. When a man gets to the point where he speaks effectively on general questions, he may be considered a good all-around legislator. Mr. Dana has reached that point, and it is very evident when he takes the floor that he is listened to with attention and respect.

The Senate has finally, and for all time, vindicated the position of Representative Bullard in opposition to the two-cent-a-mile bill. Last week it reconsidered its action in rejecting the measure, but refused to longer discuss the question, and refused to order it to a third reading by the decisive vote of nine in favor to twenty-eight against. But meanwhile Commissioner Bishop and his associates on the railroad board had before them the onerous duty of making a thorough investigation into the question of suburban rates of fare. While there might be some good reason advanced, based upon the recommendations in their annual report, for an investigation of the general question of fares all over the Commonwealth.

Mr. Bullard's committee, sitting jointly with the committee on street railways, has favorably reported a bill on the governor's recommendation that $5,000,000 additional be expended for the elimination of grade crossings, the vote being unanimous. The bill itself provides that the railroads shall pay not exceeding sixty-five per cent; the street railways not exceeding fifteen per cent; cities and towns not exceeding ten per cent and the Commonwealth the balance. Investigation shows that the places affected by this section which Senator How opposes are New Bedford, Worcester, Haverhill and possibly two or three small places.

The proceedings so far as the southern section of Newton is concerned will probably not be affected by it. Mr. Bullard's committee on railroads, commences its final hearings of the year tomorrow on the question of a new passenger station at Worcester, which involves the abolition of certain grade crossings. An effort has been made to reach an agreement on this matter so as to avoid long hearings at this late stage of the session.

Senator Skinner and his associates on the metropolitan committee are still waiting the action of the city of Boston and the Elevated Railway Company in connection with the Washington street subway. It is so evident that nothing can be done this year unless there is a practical agreement on the bill that the metropolitan committee did not think it worth while to go into executive session a single day on this matter until that point was practically settled. Senator Skinner's committee on federal relations last week reported favoring the bill pending in Congress to provide for building certain war vessels in the United States Navy yards. It also reported resolutions supporting a bill before Congress for more pay for letter carriers. It has reported "reference to the next General Court" on resolutions favoring pensions for the widows and children of members of the United States life saving service who perished in the Monomoy disaster. About $48,000 has been raised for the relief of these sufferers through popular subscription. Some $38,000 of it will be turned over to the humane society to be expended for these people as the need arises. The balance having been paid out in sums of several hundred dollars each to meet the immediate necessities of the sufferers. In all probability, Congress will pass a pension bill for their benefit, so that no action by the Massachusetts Legislature will be necessary.

The metropolitan committee has practically decided to report some measure to reimburse Clinton, and Sterling for loss in taxes through the construction of the metropolitan water system. The members feel, however, that it would be wiser to give these towns a lump sum, say $75,000 for Clinton and a much smaller amount for Sterling, than to place upon the water district the burden of making a full appropriation for the benefit of these places. There is likely to be quite a discussion upon this matter before it is finally adjusted.

A bill to provide for the measurement of the water supply to cities and towns by the metropolitan water and sewerage board has been favorably reported by the Senate ways and means committee, and engrossed having also been engrossed by the House.

Literary Notes.

Charles Major is perhaps the most popular teller of love stories among living novelists. In Dorothy Vernon, as in his earlier novel "When Knighthood was in Flower," time and distance lose their significance under his spell. He has the rare and happy faculty which brings home to the heart the spirit of gallant time and imperious call of youth's springtime. Well written from first page to last, the novel is worthy to rank as one of the best pieces of American fiction, and as literature.

Mr. Major has discovered what potent implements are language and style in the creation of romance, and he has mastered their use. All praise to him for this; it cannot fail, moreover, to add to his popularity, thus earning for his willingness to labor and improve two reward, one material the other artistic. The romance is the chief concern with this author; it is the very root as well as the flower of his gift.

This is a historical tale, so far as period, scene, and minor characters are concerned. Indeed, even his hero and his heroine, and the romance itself, are based upon historic fact. But we are after all ever in the land of lovers, the best of realms in which to dwell in romantic fiction. Dorothy Vernon is an Elizabethan maid, but there is in her a suggestion of wilful young womanhood as it reveals itself through the ages, a touch of the eternal feminine in her defiance of authority, for the sake of the man she loves. She is not a historic figure, interesting on account of its distance from the women of today; she is flesh and blood of this twentieth century, all gentleness and roused fury in defence of her all; all love and strength and fortitude under persecution and opposition, a living, loving, lovable girl, ready to risk all for the sake of "him," a living woman of today. She will appeal more powerfully, we think, to the popular imagination than did even the heroine of the earlier book, because she is depicted in more vigorous lines and stronger colors, because Mr. Major has mastered his trade. The elopement of Dorothy Vernon with John Manners is an historic episode; Haddon Hall belongs to this day to their descendants, the Dukes of Rutland. Queen Elizabeth visited the castle; the state chamber, where she rested over night, is still shown to visitors in its original state. Mary Stuart, too, enters the story, to rouse the jealousy of Dorothy. In short, the lover of the accuracy of history in fiction may rest contented with the story; but he will probably care little for that once he has been caught by the spirit and freshness of the romance. SENATOR HOAR.

Opinions on Exclusion of Chinese.

His Recent Speech in the U. S. Senate.

In order that Senator Hoar's position on the exclusion of Chinese may be clearly understood, we reprint from the Congressional Record his recent remarks on that subject:

Mr. President, I do not mean to debate this bill, because I have had other occupations and engagements of a public character, both in the Senate and elsewhere, since it has been pending, which have prevented me from giving the attention to its details that its importance demands and certainly would require if I were to undertake to say anything which would be of value to the Senate. So I wish merely to state the general principle which will govern my vote.

I am not indifferent and never have been and never shall be indifferent to anything which threatens the lofty quality of American citizenship; and I regard this question, as do the Senator from Nevada, [Mr. Stewart], and other Senators who have spoken, while other considerations affect it also, as mainly a question of the quality of American citizenship.

This is what warrants all our immigration laws, whether directed to immigration from Europe or immigration from Asia. It was expected by our forefathers, who laid down and declared the great doctrines which were very rare, and when they took place in this country, and especially the doctrine of the absolute equality of all human beings in political rights, that the process of becoming American citizens, and therefore exercising a share jointly with others in the regal function—a function loftier than that of any emperor, or king, as they regarded it—of governing this country, would be a very serious thing.

In the time of Washington and his immediate successors naturalizations were very rare, and when they took place the judge of the court of the United States in my part of the country, and I suppose elsewhere, used to address the new citizen with a little speech, pointing out to him the great advantage and dignity to which he had acceded, and welcoming him into the lofty brotherhood of American citizenship, and that was preceded by an inquiry, which meant business, into the character and quality of the new citizen.

There was no perfunctory admission. There was no taking a thousand oaths in a thousand seconds. There was no band of political agents hurrying into citizenship men for the purposes of any party. There was no such thing as the same two witnesses swearing to the same facts about a hundred men at once, and there was no such thing, as happened in New York not many years ago, of issuing naturalization papers in blank by the court, so that the inquiry showed that the judge who held that court must, if the papers had been genuine, have naturalized 60,000 persons in a single day.

That is the kind of administration which the men who made and believed in the doctrines of the Declaration of Independence, and who passed our early naturalization laws meant to have practiced in order to insure the dignity and purity of American citizenship.

Now, I was in the other House, and later in this Chamber, when this great change of public opinion took place. When I came to Congress the Burlingame treaty had just been adopted, and we were making our boast that there was a nation, to use Mr. Lowell's famous line—Whose free latching was never drawn in. Against the poorest child of Adam's kin.

And the whole American people believed that doctrine. California herself believed it quite as religiously as did Massachusetts.

The great evil came up which the Senator from Nevada has so well stated and without any exaggeration, and the evils in regard to some classes of European immigration which my colleague had occasion to state, in advocating a bill under consideration a year or two ago, with equal force and precision of statement, because Mr. President, these things are not matters of race. The Senator from California [Mr. Perkins], who is now out of his seat, described the condition of things in the Chinese quarter in San Francisco. It happened that when this debate came up some time ago I asked a very eminent citizen of that coast, one of the champions of this class of legislation, if he had not gone through the like place in London at a recent visit, as the newspapers said, and he said he had; and I asked him if every thing which he described of the vile places in San Francisco was not paralleled and surpassed by similar infamy and squalor and human degradation in places in London, where he found nobody but men of the English race. He admitted that that was true. It is not race. It is degradation that we ought to strike at and keep out of it.

Mr. President, the objection to the whole theory on which our Chinese legislation proceeds is that you strike at labor, the dignity and glory of humanity, because it is labor, and you strike at men not because of any individual degradation, but solely because of race. You say that the Chinese laborer shall be kept out though he possesses every virtue under heaven, and the Syrian or laborer for the laborer from any other Asiatic country shall come in though he possesses every vice under heaven, and then you say that a man shall stay out if he is a laborer, although he may come in if he is a scholar or a gentleman or an artist. So this great Republic puts itself on record that men differ essentially in the matter of human rights because of race and not because of the quality of the individual, and that the laborer is a degraded being in comparison with the scholar or the gentleman or the laborer. Now, that is a stab at the essential principle on which this Republic rests, and for one I will not mark the close of my life, as my eyes are about to close, by joining in such an act in consequence of any alleged or fancied necessity.

When this subject first came up, and when the uneasiness under the Burlingame treaty was just beginning to show itself on the Pacific coast and had not reached the rest of the country, I sought out Mr. Sargent, then an eminent member of the House of Representatives from California, (that was I suppose about 1871 or 1872; I can not give the date,) who was afterwards an eminent member of this body and, as is well known, minister to Germany, and called his attention to it.

I told him I would gladly unite in measures which should be as effective and stringent as human wit could contrive to keep out everything of the evil of which his people were beginning to complain; that I would agree to station at one port or two ports or five ports in Asia public agents—public agents who should examine man by man, witness by witness—agents who could not be imposed upon and who could not be flattered and who could not be bribed, and provide that no immigrant should come to this country from China except such as came from that limited number of ports and such had passed this scrutiny of our public agencies. If the time for such an examination would not allow examination thoroughly and faithfully every man who wanted to come, that was the misfortune of the situation, and it was necessary for the protection and security and quality of American citizenship. But it was no violation of our principles.

I was willing, then, that no man should come as an immigrant who could not read or write the English language, if that were desirable; that no man should come as an immigrant who did not bring his wife with him, if he were married, and his children with him, if he were a father; that no man should come as an immigrant whose moral qualities and capacity to earn his living in some respectable employment were not ascertained; that no man should come as an immigrant who did not mean to stay here and die here and be buried here and renounce all his allegiance to every other country whatever, and that no man should come as an immigrant who was not permeated with the spirit of American citizenship.

But, some of our friends on the Pacific coast did not care much about ideals, though I have no doubt they were as thoroughly attached in principle to the doctrines on which this Republic was founded as I was, but in their anxiety and alarm they could not wait patiently to get at this evil.

So, in the first place, they broke a treaty, and in the next place the contradicted the doctrine which the fathers had declared, and although I suppose my friend the Senator from Nevada, I do consider Mr. Sumner's impassioned denunciation of him as rather a jest—I do not mean Mr. Sumner meant it as a jest, for he never jests, but my friend, I have no doubt, took it as a jest, just as I did—

Mr. Stewart. It did not hurt my feelings any.

Mr. Hoar. I do not suppose it did the least in the world. It did not hurt his feelings or stop the growth of his hair.

Mr. Stewart. That is true.

Mr. Hoar. But still, for all that, the thing happened, and so it is that we are going on from step to step. We could not wash out this spot with water, and so we took vinegar; and we could not wash it out with vinegar, and so we tried a solution of cayenne pepper, and now our friends on the Pacific coast are asking us for a preparation of vitriol, which they hope will wash it out.

For once, Mr. President, I am not going into the details of this measure.

I will not bow the knee to Baal—either in dealing with the Philippine Islands or with the Chinese. I will not vote that labor as labor shall not stand on an equality with other conditions of men. I will not vote that it is a falsehood which any nation has the right to establish its own government after its own fashion. I will not worship this god that you have set up. My position is that this policy has nothing to do with the details of the measure.

At Caroline's.

There are many advantages derived by dealing with high class private shops, which you do not receive at the department stores. Every patron of Mile. Caroline receives the proper attention and each hat and bonnet is perfectly fitted and adapted before it leaves her parlors.

She makes a study of the figure, general contour, and the complexion, color of the hair and eyes, and even the disposition of the person is taken into consideration when making to order. Her patrons are of the best class, and you do not come in contact with, and you are free from the gaze of others, while having your millinery adapted.

Although she journeys to Europe regularly for the newest idea, and for modes for refined, her prices are reasonable. Her rooms are nicely situated, just off the ground floor, which makes them more exclusive, and are located in the block of the Brunswick Hotel, opposite the Institute of Technology, on Boylston street, Boston.

INFLATED.

Stock of Boston Suburban Electric Co.

Some Facts Regarding That Organization.

A Communication.

In view of the petition of some two hundred (200) prominent Citizens of Newton (presented to the Board of Aldermen at its meeting May 5th), praying that all new locations and extensions of Street Railways be in future granted only to some one of the different Street Railways forming by "Association" the Boston Suburban Electric Company perhaps the following is opportune.

The truth told at last. The easy way to water stock in spite of Massachusetts Anti-stock watering laws.

What is the Boston Suburban Electric Company? It is not a street railway nor will you find any record of it in the report of the Railroad Commissioners, nor in that of any of the other Commissioners. If it is not a Corporation then the State has no control over it, and its certificates of shares can be issued without regard to property value, and it will be found that this is quite true, and it will be shown later why this is the reason of its being.

The Boston Suburban Electric Company is an association of men who have bought a controlling interest in the stock of the following street railways:

Newton Street Railway Company,
Newton & Boston Street Railway Company,
Wellesley & Boston Street Railway Company,

Commonwealth Avenue Street Railway Company,
Lexington & Boston Street Railway Company.

Besides these street railways they have bought a controlling interest in the Gas & Electric Light Company of Waltham, and to pay for these controlling interests they have issued certificates of the Boston Suburban Electric Company to the holders of stock in lieu of money. All of the above street railways paid dividends last year, except one.

Newton Street Railway 6 1/2 per cent. on its stock of $315,000.
Wellesley & Boston St. Ry. 8 per cent. on its stock of 115,000
Commonwealth Ave. St. Ry. 6 per cent. on its stock of 292,000
Lexington & Boston St. Ry. 4 per cent. on its stock of 525,000
Newton & Boston St. Ry. paid no dividend, 200,000

Or say not quite 5 1/2 per cent. on $1,447,000

If these several street railway companies had been consolidated into one company under the laws of Massachusetts, it is doubtful whether an issue of stock in excess of the combined stock of these several companies would have been permitted by the Board of Railroad Commissioners; but under the present trust scheme an issue of more than double the number of shares of the combined companies have already been issued, and the limit of such issue rests entirely with the management and the printing press.

The case of the purchase of the Waltham Gas & Electric Light Company indicates clearly the over capitalization of this trust. When a new issue of the stock of this company was made within one year, the Gas & Electric Light Commissioners after careful examination and appraisal by experts fixed the value of the new stock to be issued at 110. When this plan was purchased by the Boston & Suburban Electric Company they issued for each share of Gas Company's stock two shares of their preferred and 1/2 share of common stock, thereby increasing the securities represented by 150 per cent. and doubling the market value of the plant. The Gas Company having found it difficult to earn and pay more than 6 per cent. on its stock hitherto, will now be compelled to earn 8 per cent. to simply pay the dividend on the preferred stock of the Boston & Suburban Company, which has been issued on this plan. Who will be compelled to pay this dividend?

The total capitalization of the combined Street Railways was $1,447,000 to pay for which Trustee Certificates were issued consisting of 22,265 shares of preferred, valued at par at $2,226,500, and 17,095 shares of common valued at par at $1,709,500, amounting in all to $3,936,000. An increase in par capitalization of $2,489,000, roughly an increase of 175 per cent.

The selling price for these securities was at the time of issue $80.00 for the preferred shares of the Boston Suburban Electric Company and $24.00 per share for the common stock or an average of a little over $50.00 per share for the underlying securities, a far greater price than what the shares could have been bought at at a private sale a little time previous to the consolidation.

By skillful advertising there has been created quite a demand for these Trustee Certificates, and the price has been advanced from $80.00 for the preferred per share and $24.00 for the common to $90.00 per share for the preferred and $40.00 per share for the common, both of the par value of $80.00 or an average of say $15.00 per share for the underlying securities. Where do these shares of the Boston Suburban Electric Company that are sold come from?

Correspondence.

PUBLIC CONVENIENCES.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

It is my opinion that criticism of the city government scarcely becomes a loyal citizen, for I believe that these gentlemen whom we have elected to the highest offices of trust in our municipality, are always willing to listen to suggestions and act wisely upon them. It is therefore with some reluctance, that I desire to trespass upon your columns to call attention to a recent action of the board of aldermen which a neighbor of mine has rather harshly termed "a flagrant misjudgement." For my own part I am not prepared to characterize the recent refusal of common victuallers' licenses to six fruit dealers entirely as such, but I am inclined to believe that those aldermen who voted against the applicants were not entirely conversant with the facts. Solely upon the grounds that the travelling public is deprived of those conveniences which make car-stations and waiting rooms absolutely indispensable to every community where there are visitors each Sunday, is my contention based.

Last Sunday witnessed a condition of things almost without parallel in this city, purely because of the absence of public facilities. To those of us who have but little call to leave our homes on Sunday it may seem somewhat strange. We should remember, however, that there are many hundreds who daily pass through our city perhaps for pleasure only, and many on errands of importance. Whatever their reason it is a fact that there are many passing to and fro and for them some accommodations are demanded. If it is, however, the belief of the aldermen that fruit stores not doing a victualler's trade have no right to keep open Sunday, it is very urgent that some other step be taken to provide for the welfare of the travelling public. Some time ago the erection of a suitable building was agreed but in face of a protest from those who claimed they would be annoyed by such a structure, it was turned down. It must, therefore, be plainly evident that immediate steps should be taken to revive the original proposition and overcome the objection as delicately as possible. I am firmly convinced that there is no alternative and that this important matter should be given prompt attention.

THE AUBURDALE ACCIDENT.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

The details of the sad accident at Weston bridge, Auburndale, last week Sunday, indicate that a reform is necessary in the working of the Metropolitan Park police system. If the duties of the police are merely to wear a nice looking uniform and occasionally patrol the river, as a warning to evil disposed canoeists, then perhaps their mission is fulfilled. If the station of the park police is merely an office and loafing place for the force, then the building is sufficient for that purpose. It seems to me, that the saving of human life, and the care of people who are unfortunate enough to be emptied into the cold waters of the Charles is more worthy of the expense of keeping up such an establishment as the park police station. The young lady who was saved from drowning last week, more by the efforts of other canoeists on the river, than by the police, (although the police got the credit), was placed on a little spot of land by side of the bridge, unable to get any further, and had to stay there, chilled to the bone, the water dripping from her, until the lookers on took pity on her helpless condition, drew her up on to the bridge and a young man carried her to a house in the village, in a team loaned by a gentleman who happened to be there at the time, where she was cared for by willing hands, until late in the evening, her brother, who had been telephoned to by the people who cared for her, came to take her home. The police station of the park commission had no accommodation for such a case, no fire, no matron, no one but men to care for a young lady, that needed very careful attention to save her from sickness and perhaps death, from the terrible shock and exposure she had experienced. Perhaps the most important duty of the police was to recover the body of the young man, and resuscitate him if possible, but common humanity require attention to the young lady who was saved, but no attention was paid to her, except by the people who had gathered, and, it is probable that, if it was not for the courage and promptness of the young men in nearby canoes, jumping into the water immediately and going to the rescue, the young lady too, would have perished. If the police are afraid to wet their uniforms, even their stockings, it would be a good idea to dress some of them in a bathing suit such as are worn by the life savers at Revere beach, and employ those who are not afraid of the water. A nice looking uniform, with revolvers, billies, and other tokens of authority, may be a safe guard against river thieves and drunken canoeists, but a good brave swimmer, who is not afraid of the water, is more likely to save a life, which is of more consequence than the arrest of a hundred thieves. No doubt, the patrolling of the river, makes it more agreeable and pleasant for well disposed people, who seek the recreation afforded by canoeing on its peaceful waters, but, the large number of accidents every season calls for a more efficient system for saving the valuable lives that are put in peril every summer, and certainly, a place should be provided to properly care for those who are unfortunate enough to be spilled into the cold water of our beautiful Charles.

"HONEST JOHN" AND THE MILK DEALERS.

Newtonville, May 7th, 1902.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

Last fall, all your readers will recollect the fact of my exposing the folly of the milk distributors (not the producers), who put up the price of milk one and two cents per quart, alleging the awful high prices for all grains, (not mentioning by the way, s'op grain from the various brewers), and their utter inability to live on the then existing prices for milk. Now, from that time to this not a stack of grain has been garnered, the same old prices exist for all cattle food as then, and even grass of this season is only just coming in. And yet a notice lays on my desk from my milk distributor that down comes milk 1 cent a quart from May 1st.

Ought I not to be thankful at their generosity? But no, I am going to keep on the same. I cut my milk supply down in the first instance and I intend to stick to it now. I learn that economy in the disuse of milk forces these sanguine dealers to try and get back the trade they drove away. Let all people teach the semi-trusts a lesson.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

State House Letter.

(Special to the Graphic)

Boston, May 14.

The reports which will come into the General Court today will, to a very large extent, clear up the doubts of the joint committees. Some 150 measures have been held back until this week and most of these were bills involving fights, which made the fact that they were not reported more impressive and lamentable. It is doubtful if there is another general extension of time for committees after today so that in all probability, a few days more will see everything cleared up. About the last measure which it is expected will come in will be the bill to provide for a new subway under Washington street in Boston. The conferences over this measure are not going on at the State House, but presumably in the City Hall, between the Mayor, representatives of the Boston elevated railway, and most probably representatives also of the associated board of trade. Many believe that Governor Crane has taken a hand in the matter, but this is not certain. At all events, when Senator Skinner and his associates on the metropolitan affairs committee get ready to report the bill it will undoubtedly be in such a form as to prevent prolonged controversies in the House and Senate. Should a bill be reported in defiance of the desires of the city of Boston or the elevated railway, it would be likely to be referred over to the next General Court in short order.

Representative Bullard appeared before the committee on ways and means last week, as stated in this correspondence, to advocate a favorable report upon the grade crossing bill as it stood. The fact that Attorney General Parker protested against being compelled to act as an arbitrator on the question of whether or not street railways should be brought in as a contributing party to the expense where proceedings have already been begun, impressed the ways and means committee so strongly that at his request they reported in favor of striking out the section entirely. They added a line to another section to make more clear the manner in which street railways should be brought in proceedings to be begun in the future.

It will not be strange if there is a good deal of debate over this measure. By some accident, the bill as originally reported failed to indicate the manner in which street railways should be brought in as the fourth contributing party. This oversight has been rectified through an amendment of a perfecting nature added by the ways and means committee.

The committee on insurance, of which Mr. Dana is chairman, has favorably reported the bill for the incorporation of the Abraham Lincoln Life Insurance Company, to which reference was made last week. This is the only stock company which has been incorporated in Massachusetts for forty years.

The Governor is having quite a pressure brought to bear upon him on the question of appointing proper men to fill the three vacancies on the bench of the superior court, created through a bill reported by Mr. Dana's committee on the judiciary this year. No member of the General Court of 1902 can be appointed to either of these places, as they aided in the passage of the legislation. There are some twenty active candidates for this honor, about half of them Irish Americans, as it is understood one of the appointees will represent that element in our population, and the others, all republicans with a single exception of Frank M. Forbush of Newton. Mr. Forbush has been chairman of the prohibitory state committee, and it is urged in his favor that he has not only the judicial temperament, but that there has been no prohibitionist appointed a judge since the death of Hon. Robert C. Pitman of Newton some years ago. Among the prominent names mentioned for this honor outside of Mr. Forbush are Charles A. DeCourcy of Lawrence, (who should he receive the appointment, would make the third Lawrence man on the superior bench, Judges Sherman and Bell being the other two), John J. Flaherty of Gloucester, Assistant District Attorney Casey of Suffolk County, Judge Burke of the Boston municipal court, Associate Justice Sullivan of the same court, J. H. Carroll of Springfield, Thomas W. Kenefick of Palmer, J. E. Cotter of Hyde Park, Hugo A. Dubuque of Fall River, William Turtle of Pittsfield, Robert O. Harris of Bridge-water, Charles N. Harris, of Winchester, District Attorney Holmes of New Bedford, Judge Milliken of the New Bedford court, L. H. Hitchcock of Chicopee, William T. Robinson of Springfield, Carlton T. Phelps of North Adams, and Dean Samuel C. Bennett of the Boston University law school. As the Governor has not yet taken up the question seriously as to whom he will appoint to these three places, it would be gratuitous to attempt to say who are likely to be the winners in this interesting contest.

Among the interesting matters of discussion this week will be the question of a constitutional convention should the people of the Commonwealth so vote, which came before the Senate on an adverse report.

The bill to permit the sale of soda water, ice cream and confectionery on Sunday has passed the House and had a reading in the Senate last week, being put over to this week on the question of engrossment. In order that Senator Apsey of Cambridge might offer additional amendments. The Senate showed by a vote of two to one that it was in favor of ordering the measure to a third reading. An attempt was made by Senator Jones of Melrose to limit the measure to sales by druggists, but his amendment was rejected. It was engrossed Monday.

The various bills as to employers' liability passed by the House over the objections of Mr. Dana are in the calendar of the Senate this week.

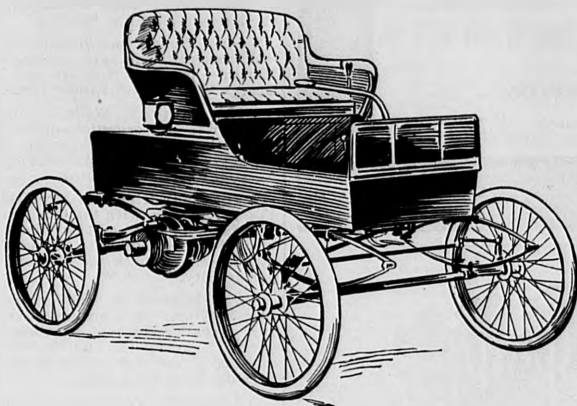

The General Court has not entirely committed itself to the idea that Sunday shall be an open day, for the House last week refused to order to a third reading a bill to permit Boston hotels to provide barbers for guests up to noon of the Lord's day.

The House has rejected a bill to authorize the Boston Institute of Osteopathy to grant degrees on the ground that to pass the bill would lower the standard which is now required in Massachusetts for obtaining a degree. Should the institute referred to some other year prove that its course of study was sufficiently strenuous to compare favorably with that in the medical schools of Harvard, Tufts and elsewhere, doubtless, the law will be passed.

Mr. Rich said in an address before the Miners' Congress in Boise City, Idaho, and later published in the "National Banker," that there was as much money invested in mining as in banking and that mining pays much handsomer dividends; that the number of dividend paying mining companies is larger than all other combined industries is fully sustained by statistics; that mining produces quicker and greater returns than any other industrial pursuit is evidenced by the scores of multi-millionaires, and that the immense fortunes of the Mackays, the Taylors, the Fields, the Shermans, the Baldwins, the Dillies, the Clarks, the Hises, and hundreds of others, are due to mining cannot be denied.

NEW JERSEY TEAM WINS.

NEWTON LOSES TWO OUT OF THREE GAMES IN THE MATCH WITH THE ROSEVILLE A. A. TEAM OF NEWARK.

In a leisurely rolled match on the Newton Club alleys, Newtonville, last Friday evening, the Roseville A. A. team of Newark, N. J., took two out of three strings from the home aggregation.

The result of the match was not entirely unexpected, as Roseville has a great record both at home and abroad, but there was much speculation as to what they could do against the one-time champions of the "Gilt Edge" league.

The visitors took the first string. A feature of this was Maltby's fancy spare of six and seven. In the second string the home team pulled itself together, and made a showing that bid fair to count in the result. Roseville, however, lost no time when it came to the last string and had a good big surplus on its total.

Hutchinson of Newton was high man with 570 and Meyer of Roseville came next with 569. The score:

On Saturday afternoon, May 10th, the Sarah Hall Chapter, D. R., of Newton, were entertained at the Newton Club house, Newtonville, by the following ladies: Mrs. A. H. Clifford, Mrs. D. F. Barber, Mrs. E. P. Bosson, Mrs. J. H. Green, Miss E. M. Sibley and Mrs. Hugh Campbell. Owing to the absence of their regent, Mrs. F. E. Stanley, the meeting was called to order by the first vice regent, Mrs. E. W. Howe. During the business session the chapter decided for members and friends to celebrate Flag Day, Saturday, June 14th by going to Scituate and enjoying one of Mr. Lee's famous fish dinners. The program for the afternoon included two piano duets by the Mrs. Wheeler and Barrows and songs by the Misses Estes, West, Jewett and Young accompanied by Mrs. Strong; and a continuation of the diary of a young lady who visited Newport, Providence and Boston in the summer of 1788, read by Mrs. A. H. Clifford. After singing "America," the young ladies of the chapter dispensed light refreshments in the dining room, which was tastefully decorated with tulips and pinks, and the chapter flags.

Knights Templar's Service.

Gethsemane commandery, K. T., attended special services Sunday morning in the Church of the Messiah, (Episcopal), at Auburndale, in celebration of the festival of the Ascension day.

The interior of the edifice was beautified with floral decorations. On the chancel were the banners and flags of the commandery.

Eminent commander F. L. Nagle, with 60 Knights Templars occupied the center of the auditorium while the remainder of the church was more than filled by parishioners and friends.

The officiating clergyman was the rector, Rev. John Matteson, who preached an appropriate sermon. Messrs. Gamwell and R. E. Ashenden were lay readers.

A specially arranged musical program was finely given.

25th Anniversary.

The 25th anniversary of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association was celebrated on Wednesday evening of last week and was a most notable occasion.

The popularity of the Association was readily seen by the numbers that came out to assist in the celebration of the memorable event.

The rooms of the Association were tastefully decorated and the many friends spent the early part of the evening in a social manner.

At 8 o'clock the more formal exercises were held in the auditorium, presided over by the President, Mr. S. M. Sayford.

Prayer was offered by Rev. R. K. Smith of a Grace church. President Sayford then referred to the work of the year and spoke of the encouraging condition of the Association both as to work and finances. The reports of the clerk and treasurer were then read and both showed the record of the year to be one of progress.

The report of the general secretary was then presented and was of a very novel character.

The work of the year was illustrated by stereopticon views and covered the entire departmental work which had been done.

A brief introduction was given showing the origin of the Association in London, England, 51 years ago, and also showing the face of the founder, Sir George Williams.

The faces of the past presidents were then shown and brought forth the hearty applause of the audience.

The enthusiasm reached its highest point when the face of Pres. Sayford was shown, which was in itself a testimonial of the esteem in which he is held by the young men of this city.

Hearty cheers also greeted the face of the popular young vice president, Mr. Allan C. Emery. Mr. Emery is away on a business trip in San Antonio, Texas, but sent a telegram of greeting to the friends assembled.

Mr. Edwin O. Childs Jr., was next introduced as the legal representative of the association and shared with his associates in the applause of the gathering.

The views of the work were taken during the past year and showed the large classes in the gymnasium of men and boys, which have been conducted by Phy. Director Wyatt and his corps of trained leaders. Views of the railroad men in their class work, also at wrestling gave an idea of the scope of the work in that department.

Classes of men have numbered 42, classes of boys have numbered 28 and 30.

The social life of the work was described and shown upon the canvas. The Bible class conducted by the Gen. Sec. each Sunday afternoon and numbering 120 was represented on the screen by a group of 52, which was taken at one of the social gatherings of the class.

During the past year two of the members have united with the church, one in Newton and one at West Newton.

Considerable attention has been paid to the boys during the past year and the Association has done much to provide for them.

Good wholesome games have been introduced, entertainments provided and at present the Saturday morning of each week is devoted to some out door trip, visiting the large manufacturing establishments, the Navy Yard, prisons, jails and other institutions.

These trips are heartily enjoyed by the boys and are a source of pleasure as well as entertainment.

The report closed with a statement from the secretary that the Association stands for a principle and does not simply exist to provide amusement for the youth.

It stands for a principle and that principle is the making of a man. A man, who by a consistent life will demand the respect of his fellow men and prove himself of worth to the community.

A man, who shall have the courage of his convictions and whose character will be of the highest possible type.

A man, who like the Man among men, the Christ Himself, is willing to devote himself to cause of humanity and in giving to the world a living illustration of what true manhood is.

After the reading of the report the friends again assembled in the parlors where the Ladies' Auxiliary provided refreshments and also gave to each departing guest a little package of wedding cake in honor of this the 25th anniversary, or silver jubilee of the Association.

The Association orchestra, under the direction of its leader, Mr. Owens entertained the friends during the evening with finely selected music.

For 25 years we have had this institution in our midst and as citizens of this city we must surely say it has its place and it has filled it well.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The High school graduation exercises will be held on Saturday, June 21st at 10 a. m., and the entrance examinations for the candidates for the lowest class will be held at the High school June 23 and 24, beginning at 9 o'clock.

The annual interscholastic tennis tournament was played on Jarvis Field, Cambridge, on Saturday and Monday. Newton High was represented by C. G. Plimpton, Cogswell, Stephenson, Leonard and Vinal.

Plimpton did the best work and reached the finals, when he was defeated by Whitman in three out of four sets. In points Newton High tied with Volkmann for the team championship.

Boston Latin lost its first game in the Preparatory league this season to Newton High, Saturday by the score of 12 to 9. Newton High has played two championship games so far and has won both. Boston Latin did better work with the willow, but White was wild, and the errors of the Boston boys proved serious. Capt. McCarty played a fast game, and scored three of the Latin runs. He led his team in the number of stolen bases. Fletcher, third baseman for Newton, accepted seven chances without an error.

The Mass. Humane Society.

The Humane Society of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts was organized in 1785, its purpose being to "promote the cause of humanity by the preservation of human life, the alleviation of its miseries, and the recovery of persons who meet with such accidents as produce the appearance of death."

Accordingly in 1787 the Society published its first statement of the method of resuscitating those apparently drowned. The Society still distributes free, from its office, No. 10 Tremont street, instructions on this and the kindred subject of how to aid drowning persons. Aid to the shipwrecked early claimed attention. First huts of refuge were erected, then the work of bringing crews ashore was taken up, and the first life-boat in America was stationed at Cohasset in 1807. For forty years the Society was alone in this work. In 1847 Congress appropriated $5,000 for furnishing light-houses with means of rendering assistance to shipwrecked mariners. The appropriation was not spent till 1848, when the Society, then maintaining eighteen life-saving stations, asked that the appropriation be used for "the construction and maintenance of life-boats and rockets to throw lines to stranded ships" under its direction. The $5,000 was so expended with satisfactory results.

The Government then suggested to the New York Board of Underwriters the extension to the New Jersey coast of this arrangements for life-saving. This was done, the assistance of the Society being freely asked and given in the work. In this way the work of life-saving was taken up by the United States.

The Society today maintains forty-seven life-saving stations, equipped with the best boats and breeches-buoy apparatus obtainable. The stations have regular keepers to see that the equipment is in effective condition and that there are competent men ready to handle it. The keepers receive a small salary and the crews are rewarded on the occasion of their services. The Society's work, in connection with and as a supplement to the United States Life-Saving Service, makes the dangerous coast of Massachusetts better protected than any other bit of sea-coast in the United States.

Besides the direct saving of lives, the Society has endeavored to develop a sense of humane duty, by rewarding acts of self-sacrifice and bravery in saving life, by giving medals and certificates. For over one hundred years acts of heroism have been sought and rewarded with generous care, and, in this Commonwealth at least, bravery has not been without a fitting recognition from the community.

To other humane enterprises the Society has given a helping hand. In 1816 the Society appropriated $5,000 to aid in establishing a hospital for the insane, on condition that $20,000 more should be obtained. The Massachusetts General Hospital accepted the terms proposed, and so the foundation was laid for the McLean Asylum for the Insane.

Fifteen years later $5,000 was offered for the establishment of a lying-in hospital, the condition this time being that $12,000 more should be raised. As a result the Boston Lying-in Hospital was established in 1832.

The work of the Society is purely charitable, and no salary is received by any member of the corporation, which is governed by a board of twelve trustees who meet monthly. These trustees are J. C. Warren, C. W. Amory, G. B. Shattuck, W. C. Loring, F. L. Higginson, F. C. Welch, H. F. Sears, C. P. Curtis, Jr., C. F. Adams, 2d, W. C. Endicott, J. Homans, 2d, and H. S. Howe.

The Society has recently, with the co-operation of the Metropolitan Park Commission and the city governments of Waltham and Newton, established an effective system of life-saving appliances on Charles River within the limits of Waltham and Newton. This system is aided with great advantage to the community by extended to other places, and the Society hopes, in co-operation with citizens and public bodies, to establish life-saving apparatus on rivers and ponds where ever experience shows that danger exists through accidents in skating, boating, or bathing. Individual attempts to maintain life-saving appliances at such places have usually failed, and some organized system seems necessary. The Society will be glad to receive correspondence on this subject.

Bostock Animals

Bostock's exhibition of dumb animals at the Cycloorama will continue but a little while longer. The show is exceedingly interesting. Wild beasts always take hold of the fancy of man. The wilder they are, the stronger they take hold, and when they are the product of far distant lands and dissimilar climates, their appeal to the imagination is enormous.

There is nothing unimportant in the exhibit from the smallest monkey, chattering and screaming like a bird, to the elephant in his ill-fitting india rubber suit. Even the sedate and wary cockatoos with bunches of yellow celery tips growing out of their heads, the rugged backed camels and those fine studies in black and white, the lithe zebras, are interesting, though familiar. In a half dozen cages one beholds not only the lion and the lamb peacefully occupying the same small flat, but a cinnamon bear and a grizzly sporting together for hours in clumsy amiability.

The performances within the inclosure rimmed round by the stout hedge of steel deserve the enthusiasm they have caused. The little foxhound of Mr. Ping Pong, the elephants—mother and babe—are delightful—Mme. Morelli seems richly to deserve her royal title, "Queen of Jaguars." Capt. Jack Bonavita, the lion tamer, holds the highest place, of course, of honor and danger. To see him in a fiery tale or ancient myth come true.

Stomachs on Stills.

The man who puts on stills does not increase his actual stature by the breadth of a hair. He feels taller while he's on the stills, and when he's off them he feels shorter than he ever felt.

Stimulants are the stills of the stomach. They make a man feel better for the time being, but he feels a great deal worse for them afterward.

The need of the man whose stomach is "weak" is not stimulation but strength. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery perfectly answers that need. It cures the diseases of the digestive and nutritive system which make the stomach "weak." It enables the digestion and assimilation of food, so that the body receives the nutrition on which depends its strength.

"I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for stomach trouble," writes Clarence Carnes, Esq., Taylorsville, Loudon Co., Va. "I did not feel so much good that I didn't take any more. I can eat most anything now. I am so well pleased with it I hardly know how to thank you for your kind information. I tried a whole lot of things before I wrote to you. A gentleman told me of your medicine, and how it cured his wife. Thought I would try a bottle of it. Am now glad that I did, for I do not know what I should have done had it not been for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

The sluggish liver is made active by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

THE Y. M. C. A.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Newton Y. M. C. A. is a noteworthy occasion and calls public attention to the substantial progress made along spiritual, physical and mental lines by this worthy organization.

The condition of the association is so encouraging to its friends that whispers are heard of the possibilities of a building of its own, in which the social and physical work would have the facilities for growth now lacking in the present quarters.

Such a building would prove a great attraction to the youth of this city, and will probably receive hearty support when all the details have been properly worked out.

ELIOT MEMORIAL.

The plea for proper care and maintenance of the Eliot Memorial, which we print this week should receive careful attention by the city government. At present this structure does not come within the province of any department and some action in this direction seems desirable.

The failure to grant a common victualer license to Esther Brickett in Nonantum square was followed by the closing of her establishment last Sunday, notwithstanding the fact that an agreement exists by which she is required to maintain a waiting room for street railway passengers.

This action caused a great public inconvenience in this crowded square and many nuisances were committed in its vicinity.

The result vindicates the position taken by the Graphic, that until sanitary conveniences already authorized by the city, are erected this license should be granted.

The action of the aldermen in drawing a hard and fast line in these licenses is theoretically correct, but in this particular case the theory should yield to the practical side of the matter as represented by the public convenience and necessity.

The remonstrance to the one session plan in the Bigelow district is being rapidly signed and a strong case will be presented to the school committee. The advocates of one session were over three months at work on their petition and while the remonstrants will have about three weeks, considerable headway has already been made.

This is probably due to the strong common sense of the principal argument that five hours of constant school work are a menace to the physical and mental condition of young children. Other phases of this important question will be presented in later issues of the Graphic.

HOSPITAL BUILDINGS OPENED.

INSPECTION, YESTERDAY, OF NEW NORTH CONTAGIOUS PAVILION AND THAYER WARD, ATTENDED BY LARGE NUMBERS.

It was an enthusiastic and admiring throng that inspected the new north pavilion of the contagious ward at the Newton hospital and the new Thayer (male) ward at the same institution, yesterday afternoon.

These recent additions to the hospital plant were thrown open to the public for the first time yesterday. The gathering was unusually large and included many prominent men and women of Newton who are deeply interested in this philanthropy.

Exercises were held in the nurses' home at 3. Prayer was offered by Rev. T. W. Bishop, pastor of the Newton Highlands Methodist Episcopal church, introductory remarks were made by Hon. Joseph R. Leeson, president of the hospital corporation, Mayor John W. Weeks, representing the city, and Dr. Francis E. Porter of Abundant, representing the hospital physicians. The principal address of the afternoon was made by Rev. Julian C. Jaynes.

The exercises closed with a benediction pronounced by Rev. Dr. G. W. Smith, rector of Grace Episcopal church, and a member of the directory of the hospital.

The ladies of the hospital aid association were in charge of a tea served in the dining room at the conclusion of the exercises and inspection.

West Newton Woman's Educational Club.

The West Newton Women's Educational Club held their annual meeting on Friday, May 9, at 4 p. m., in the parlors of the Unitarian church. After the meeting was called to order Miss Davis of Newtonville sang two songs in her usual acceptable manner. The reports of the secretaries, treasurer, and various committees were then read. At the close of the business meeting supper was served by a caterer. Miss Spaulding of West Newton rendered several violin selections which were much appreciated. Mrs. A. E. Bailey presided in her usual graceful and dignified manner, calling upon different members of the club for a "fagot," some personal experience, humorous if possible. Mrs. Walton, the honorary president, was called upon to set the ball rolling. The other ladies were quick to respond and gave some very amusing experiences. The guest of honor was Mrs. Blanche C. Martin, the eloquent, who gave some fine recitations, forming the crowning feature of a most enjoyable evening.

The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Anna L. Bailey; vice-presidents, Mrs. Caroline B. Allen, Miss Amelia Davis, Mrs. Adelaide L. Gilman, Mrs. Mary R. Martin, Mrs. Kathleen M. Phipps, Mrs. Jane M. Hastings, Mrs. Ellen E. Pratt; recording secretary, Miss Grace M. Burt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Annie L. Gregory; treasurer, Miss Harriet A. Clafin; auditor, Mrs. Florence E. Bellamy; directors for three years, Mrs. Marietta S. Clifford, Mrs. Mary H. G. Bell, Mrs. Marion B. Bailey, Mrs. M. Theresa Rowe; delegates to city federation, Mrs. E. N. L. Walton, Mrs. Emma M. Dimond, Mrs. Mary C. Knight, Mrs. Mary J. Puffer, Mrs. Mary C. Blakemore.

Death of Mrs. Locke

Mrs. Ellen L. Locke, widow of William B. Locke, passed away suddenly at the old homestead in Waban Saturday morning in her seventy-third year. Although an invalid for years, she enjoyed comparatively good health up to last January. She was a daughter of Jacob and Susan Denton, and was born in Boston Aug. 2, 1829. She was one of seven children, but one of whom now survive her. Nearly all of her early life was spent in Boston and Worcester, where she taught music and also was actively engaged in church work during those years.

She was ever a firm and true Christian and the beauty of her character was constantly shown in her noble self-sacrifice. She was married to William B. Locke, May 3, 1860, and they took up their residence in Waban in the same house. She leaves three sons and three daughters, all married but one daughter, who made her home with her.

Touching services were held at the old home Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. W. T. Perrin, D. D. Rev. J. P. West, pastor of the M. E. church, Newton Upper Falls, of which she was a member and Rev. Wm. H. Williams also assisted. The floral tributes were many. Interment was in the family lot in the Newton cemetery.

Among Women.

The Newton Woman's Suffrage League held their last meeting for the season at the Newton Highlands Clubhouse, Tuesday evening, May 13th. Mrs. Rowe presided. Mrs. Freeman of Abundant gave a charming piano solo and Mrs. Harris of Malden sang some of her delightful songs. Rev. Ida C. Hulton made an address, the subject being "Woman as a factor in Evolution." She showed convincingly that woman belonged by the side of man in every branch of the world's work. Remarks were made by Mr. Gilman and Mr. Ivy and refreshments were served.

Electric Car Collide

About 4.30 Wednesday afternoon in Newtonville square car 42 of the Needham & Watertown line of the Boston & Suburban, was passing through Newtonville square, when it ran into the rear of car 3 of the Crafts street line. The latter car had stopped to take on a passenger and as the motorman of the Needham car was unable to bring his car to a stop it crashed into the rear vestibule of the car ahead. Considerable damage was done. It is said that the blowing out of a fuse in the Needham car made it uncontrollable. Mrs. Rice of Waltham, the passenger who was getting on the car, was thrown to the ground and received injuries about the head. Conducted Gore was hemmed in by the debris and was slightly bruised and crushed.

Newton Vacation Week.

To the friends who in past years have so generously aided the work of the Newton Vacation Week, some account of the manner in which the funds of the past year were expended, may be of interest.

The receipts for the season beginning June 1st, 1901, were: From the sale and donations, $147.50; from the ladies' whist club, $120.60; total receipts, $268.10. Of this sum $35 was expended for the entertainment of eight people at the Sea Shore Institute, Beachmont, for times varying from one week to four; $10 for the care of two boys at the Sharon Farm; $80 to defray expenses either for board or travel, of ten people at seashore or in country; $10 for day's outings for five families, aggregating thirty people; $10 for a day at Salem Willows for the girls of the Pomroy Home; $30 to aid in the admission fee of two applicants at the Newton Home for Aged People; $10 for electric rides for people who could leave home only a few hours at a time; this sum gave a weekly bit of fresh air and change to twenty-five women and children. $10 was devoted to the use of a worthy widow, whose only desire was to be able to retain a single room in the home that for many years had been her's, but which had gradually passed out of her hands owing to the long illness and death of her husband. $10 aided in supplying actual needs in a case of sickness and death in the family of a hard-working, feeble widow. $10 was given to the Y. M. C. A. secretary for outings to boys who had not means to take part in the pleasures their mates enjoyed, and $5 to Mrs. Martin, secretary of N. A. C., to aid in emergency cases. Total expenditures, $220. Cash on hand, $48.10.

Such is the skeleton report of the year's work, but, in each instance, there is a story, often known only to the giver and the receiver of the money; a story of quiet, patient effort, in the midst of discouragements, weakness, and longing for some respite from constant cases which wear out heart and strength. The brief vacation made possible by the fund, has often given courage to take up again burdens that seemed too heavy, and nourishing food, with pleasant surroundings, has given renewed strength to bodies that were ready to succumb to disease.

The fund is not designed to be a public charity, but rather a neighborly act of kindness to those in our midst who are carrying burdens too heavy for them, and who need rest for a season to gain strength for further effort.

The sale this year will be held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors, Nonantum block, on Wednesday afternoon, May 28th, and aid, in any form, from those interested in the object, will be gladly received by the committee, Mrs. J. H. Robinson, Channing street; Mrs. H. D. Bassett, Centre street; Mrs. Virginia Emery, Elmhurst street; Mrs. J. W. Davis, Centre street; Miss Elizabeth Spear, Walnut Park.

"The Journalist," New York City, says:

"The Boston Sunday Herald is exhibiting in its Sunday issue some remarkably fine 'half-tone' printing. The reproduction of some of the photos would seem to actually improve upon the photographs themselves."

Washington Letter.

May 12th, 1902.

The Philippine bill with variations is still the motive in elaboration of which the democratic senators continue to chant their weary dirges to the infinite ennui of the republicans and the country. During the past week Senator Tillman took occasion to deliver one of his characteristic harangues full of defiance to any senator who should care to challenge the right of South Carolina to disfranchise the negro, etc. The republicans listened with amused tolerance while the democrats, to their credit be it said, left the Senate chamber, evidently mortified to at the vulgar extravagance of their colleague. On Thursday Senator Carmack indulged in his third speech on the subject and was guilty of personalities which caused Senator Hoar to call him to order but for which he subsequently apologized. No new light has been thrown on the subject but it is evident that the democrats are determined to prolong the debate interminably. On Friday Senator Lodge attempted to have a day set for a vote on the bill but was opposed by Senator Dubois. The Senator from Massachusetts then gave notice that unless there were soon signs that the debate was being brought to a close he would insist that the Senate main session for longer hours each day. The speeches of Senators Lodge, Beveridge and McComas made early in the week, were able refutations of the democratic position. It is believed by the Senator from Massachusetts that he will secure the passage of the bill about the first of the month.

The committee on relations with Cuba has about completed its investigations of the holdings of Cuban sugar by the Sugar Trust and has satisfied itself that the Trust will gain nothing by the passage of a reciprocal law governing Cuban trade with this country. Senator Platt tells me that he is confident that the Senate will pass the straight reciprocity bill which his committee will report. The rapidly increasing anxiety of the members of the House to adjourn is believed to augur well for the fate of the bill when it reaches that body.

On Friday the House passed the bill admitting Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico to statehood. The constitutional convention of New Mexico is empowered to change the name of the territory on its becoming a state if it so desires. The constitutional convention of Oklahoma is required to adopt a statute empowering the federal government to attach to the new state any part or all of the Indian Territory, at such time as it may see fit. The passage of the bill was marked by a dramatic incident which threatened to prove a tragedy. Delegate Marcus A. Smith of Arizona, on concluding an impassioned speech in favor of the bill, fell to the floor with a slight stroke of apoplexy. He is now, however, considered out of danger. The strain under which Mr. Smith and his colleague, Mr. Rodey of New Mexico, have been working during the past week has been tremendous. Mr. Flynn of Oklahoma, while he has worked equally hard does not show the same evidence of his protracted labors. All the delegates express the belief that the bill will be favorably acted upon by the Senate.

Friday afternoon in the House was devoted to clearing the pension calendar and Saturday to the eulogies of Representative Rufus L. Polk of Pennsylvania and the late Senator Kyle of South Dakota. Today the District of Columbia will have the "call" but it is probable that the bill of Representative Adams of Pennsylvania which provides for the granting of passports to the residents of insular possessions of the United States will be passed. The Naval appropriation bill is expected to constitute the leading feature of this week's work in the House.

There appears to be a growing faction in the House which would like to see some action taken towards tariff revision but those republicans who are so disposed will not press the matter at this late date.

Mrs. Joseph Cook, of Auburndale, Mass., the widow of the late Joseph Cook, has presented to Oberlin College in her husband's name a marble bust of Scipio Africanus, the conqueror of Hannibal, grandfather of the Gracchi, and perhaps the greatest of all the Roman Generals, excepting Caesar.

Mr. Cook's attention was called to this bust by the British Archaeologist Alexander Forbes, in 1881, when Mr. Cook was in Rome. Its extreme antiquity was vouched for by the American sculptors Story and Powers. The nose and a part of the neck are modern. Dr. Dennison, Professor of Roman Archaeology in Oberlin thinks that the bust dates from the time of the Roman Republic. It is one of the most impressive and beautiful of all the more than thirty busts now extant of Scipio Africanus Major. The scar on the forehead is the memory of the wound he received when defending and saving his father's life at the battle of Ticinus. There are marks on his face which are suggestions of its long burial under the soil of Rome.

Mrs. Cook has given this most valued of all her husband's art treasures to Oberlin College on account of Mr. Cook's great interest in that College and Seminary. He often lectured at the College, and was an admirer of President Finney. The formal presentation of the bust of Scipio will be made during Commencement week.

Street Railway Matters.

At the hearing at Waltham last Friday evening over the rival petitions of the Newton Co. and the Waltham Co. for double tracking of Main street to Waltham, President Claflin of the Newton Co. stated that an arrangement had been made with the Boston Elevated by which Waltham passengers could be carried to the Boston subway without change of cars.

The Newton Co. contemplates a line from Nonantum square to Auburndale by the way of Washington street, Commonwealth avenue and Lexington street in the near future.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS

Tremont Theatre—The event of the spring theatrical season in Boston will undoubtedly be the first production on any stage of the "Prince of Pilsen," by Frank Pixley and Gustav Luder, authors of "King Dodo," at the Tremont Theatre. The first performance will probably be given Tuesday evening, May 20, and the company will number nearly 100 people, with a special orchestra of 25. Among the principals are observed such well known exponents of musical comedy as Dorothy Morton, John W. Ransome, Arthur Donaldson, Louise Montrose, Zella Frank, Mabel Pearson, Maurice Darcy, Ruth Peebles and Robert O'Connor. There is to be a chorus of 60 and the famous stage director, George F. Marion, has been busy preparing for the big undertaking for more than a month. The scenes of the new piece are all laid in and about Nice, Italy, "the beauty spot of the Universe," and the scope for the scenic artist's talent will be readily imagined. Henry W. Savage, producer of "King Dodo," and other pretentious stage offerings, is the responsible promoter of the enterprise and the lavish character of the costuming and general display is assured. No less than 300 distinct dresses have been designed by the famous artist, Arche Gunn, and executed by leading Boston firms, and the gowns of the feminine contingent are likely to cause the public to "sit up and notice."

Colonial Theatre—"The Strollers," now running with great success at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, received exceptionally fine criticism from the Boston dailies of April 29th. From all comments gathered it seems to have made an honest success and a genuine hit. "The Strollers" in consequence will no doubt be booked throughout New England next season. We quote from the Boston Herald: "At the Colonial Theatre last evening Nixon and Zimmerman's company produced George W. Lederer's 'musical drolery,' 'The Strollers,' the first time this piece has been seen in Boston. According to the bill, this is an adaptation from 'Der Landstreicher' of L. Krenn and C. Lindau, the book by Harry B. Smith and the music by Ludwig Engländer. It enjoyed a 10 weeks' run at the Knickerbocker Theatre in New York last summer. Those who saw the play in New York, and who also saw it last night, must have been very agreeably surprised, for the present production is a better one than that which made a hit in the metropolis. There is some plot to the piece, not enough to bother, but more than is generally found in musical comedies and plays of that character, and there is a liberal supply of good, clean, laughable fun in all of the three acts. The music is charming, tuneful and catchy, without being too much of a jingle. Mr. Engländer seems to have the knack of writing really good music that does not seem out of place in one of these musical droleries. Taken as a whole, play, music and company, both principals and chorus, the piece can be summed up best by the slang expression, 'a corking good show,' just the kind that should keep the Colonial filled as it was last night, during its entire engagement."

What may be conceded the most important engagement of the fast closing dramatic season in Boston, is that of the famous comedian, Mr. Dan Daly in the big musical comedy success entitled "The New Yorkers" now playing at the Boston Museum. This organization comprises nearly one hundred people among whom are a score of the most prominent comedians, singers and actors ever gathered together in a company for the production of this class of entertainment. Mr. Dan Daly has been the main factor of more musical comedy successes than any comedian of the present day stage during the past decade. In his present play, "The New Yorkers," he is furnished with a character which reveals his best methods and gives him the fullest scope to be more Dalysesque than ever before.

The cast, the gorgeous scenic invention and the sumptuous gowning of the play is exactly similar in every detail as that which characterized this presentation during its six months run in New York City. This performance will not be seen in any city in New England with the exception of Boston, and the engagement is a limited one with the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

That Beautiful Gloss comes from the varnish in Devos's Varnish Floor Paint; costs 5 cents more a quart though. Sold by J. M. Briggs & Son, W. E. Toulinson, and McWain & Son.

The Riverside Season Opens. The shores and buildings of the Riverside Recreation Grounds were thrown open for the seventh season. Saturday While there was no formal program many of the sponsors and prominent men interested were present.

The management has plans for extending the annex building to the railroad embankment, with accommodations for 180 more canoes. There will be a hall above.

During the summer 20 Saturday evening dances with an orchestra will be given, and if arrangements can be made with other bathhouses 10 of these will be regular concert nights, with illuminations, etc.

INFLATED.

There can be but one answer—from the men on the inside who are quite willing to let the dear public pay them a big profit on this stock and buy stock from these men at an advance of over 50 per cent. on the price at which they would have been glad to sell prior to the consolidation, and who probably feel sure that the price never will be any higher and ought not to be on any analysis of the earnings of these properties. It has been remarked that the Boston Suburban Electric Company has no legal corporate existence, but is a trust pure and simple. There is no other way in the state of Massachusetts to over capitalize a street railway or Gas or Electric Light Company, and the men interested in this Association knowing this, formed themselves together not only to manage these properties, but it would seem, to make themselves rich by selling the Trustee's Certificates at the inflated value of today's prices. Glowing accounts are given out of what a bright future these properties have and what the common shares of the Association will be worth very soon, but if this be so why are the men who sold their gas and street railway stock and received in payment the Trustee's Certificates so delighted to part with them at present prices. The men with a few shares are not the only men referred to but the large holders also seem to be doing the selling. The total number of Street Railways in Massachusetts by the last report of the Railroad Commissioners is 119 Companies, only 43 of these pay dividends running from 2 to 10 per cent. and 76 Companies new and old, declared and paid no dividends at all, and this is the record of Street Railway Corporations whose capitalization is as near one hundred cents for every dollar spent in construction and equipment as the Board of Railroad Commissioners can determine after careful investigation; what hope can there be then for any dividend to shareholders of the common shares of an Association who will find it difficult to pay 4 per cent. on its preferred shares, and of what real value are the common shares of such an Association when the combined value of the total assets would hardly retire their preferred shares. The management take every opportunity in Newton to call attention to the alleged fact of it being a home Company and they should have the preference. The fact is probably that never were there fewer Newton men in these Newton Street Railways than now.

When these properties were consolidated, a president of one of these Companies, a man who stands as a giant to pygmies in his knowledge of Street Railways, is reported to have sold every share he owned in this consolidation as quickly as possible, and to the question why? Knowing the man it could be safely said because he felt he could place his money where it would be safer and give him better return as an investment.

The physical condition of the tracks and roadbed of one of the companies operating in Waltham is such that the rails must be replaced by heavier rails and the roadbed rebuilt, and this will involve the expenditure of something like $50,000. This expenditure of money must come from one of two sources, out of the income of the street railway or from an issue of further Trustee Certificates.

It might be well to ask the management of the Boston Suburban Electric Company how long they think the people will imagine a vain thing and certify to their cupidity.

San Jose Scale in Newton.

To the Editor of Newton Graphic:
I wish to call the attention of owners of fine estates in the Newtons to the presence of the San Jose scale in this city.

The writer has been called professionally, to some three or four places in the city, to give an opinion as to the dying out of hedges, shrubs and trees, and in each case has found the premises infested with this scale.

According to law in most states no nursery man can ship trees or shrubs until the same have been first officially inspected and fumigated, but the scale was undoubtedly introduced here before this law became operative.

The San Jose scale is one of the hardest of the insect pests to exterminate and is especially dangerous from the fact that it gets a good foothold before its presence is suspected by the casual observer. It usually puts in an appearance first on apple trees, flowering crabs, Japanese quince and lilacs.

One estate of several acres, visited recently, the scale has made such headway that it is doubtful if much can be saved of the thousands of dollars' worth of trees, shrubs and hedges.

Letter to W. S. & F. Edmonds.

Newton.

Dear Sirs: You know your painter; we don't; we only know painters in general.

There are two sorts, as there are two sorts of everybody else. One paints as well as he can; the other as poor as he can and gets business.

The one who paints as well as he can is all the time learning; the other one knows it all now.

Josh Billings says "it's better not to know too much than to know so many things that a'n't so." There are lots o' things in paint that "a'n't so." Lead and oil is one of 'em.

Devote lead and zinc lasts twice as long; is better in every respect; is ready to dip the brush in; you can depend on the colors; no mystery; no uncertainty; costs no more; costs less.

We hope you employ Mr. Open-Mind Painter, and not Mr. Know-it-all now.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devoe & Co.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Another Street Railway Location Desired By The Waltham Company.

Sharp Debate Over an Alleged Anonymous Communication—Waiting Rooms Wanted in Nonantum Square.

At the regular meeting of the aldermen Monday evening Aldermen Baker, Barber, Brown, Carter, Chesley, Day, Ensign, Hutchinson, Kimball, Lothrop, Mellen, Norris, Pond, Saltonstall, Trowbridge, Webster, and Weldon were present when President Weed called to order at 7.45.

At the hearings upon taking land for sewers in Upland and Oakwood roads no one appeared and the hearings were closed.

FROM THE MAYOR.

A communication from Mayor Weeks recommending a change in the ordinance governing the number of permanent men in the fire department was referred to the committee on rules, and a communication recommending that an order be adopted authorizing the assumption of betterments in certain cases in the matter of widening of Boylston street was received. Subsequently the order was adopted.

Public Buildings Commissioner Elder transmitted the petition of the Franco American Club to build a wooden club house on Dalby street, and on motion of Alderman Weldon, who vouched for the petitioners, the permit was granted without reference. The bond of Constable Harry A. Stone for $3,000 was approved.

PETITIONS.

Petitions referred to the Committee on Public Works:—Of Geo. Conley for gravel sidewalk on Pettee street; of W. C. Bates et al for repairs to the Eliot Memorial and for suitable approaches thereto; of A. E. Rollins et al for a sewer in Saxon road; of W. A. Corson for a sidewalk on Elm road.

Petitions referred to the Public Franchise Committee:—Of E. P. Bosson et al for a street light on Hillside road; of Valendino Chiacchia for a junk license; of Giuseppe Mazza for a street musician license; of the N. and W. Gas Light Co. for location for 156 poles and relocation of 54 poles on Boylston street, (hearing ordered before committee on May 28 at 8 p. m.)

On motion of Alderman Chesley the permit granted him to move a building through High and Oak streets was modified to move through Chestnut street and granted.

Petitions of A. Belle Johnson for an intelligence office license on Hicks street; of Chas. H. Welch for 4 wagon licenses, and of A. Dudley Dowd for an auctioneers' license were granted without reference.

A hearing was ordered for June 16th at 7.45 p. m. upon the petition of the Waltham Street Railway Co. for a location on Waltham, Crafts, California, Allison streets, private land to Watertown street to Pearl and Centre streets to Nonantum square.

An order for removal of tracks of the Commonwealth avenue street railway company from Boylston street was presented by Alderman Trowbridge, who stated he did not know where it came from, although he understood it had been prepared by the president of the Boston & Worcester street railway company.

Alderman Weldon said the Commonwealth Co. had a short piece of track in Boylston street and will not remove it to accommodate the work of widening now going on.

Alderman Saltonstall severely criticized the manner of presenting such a paper to the board, and said that if the company had not the courage to sign the paper it ought not to be received.

On Alderman Weldon's suggestion that Mr. Hinds of the Worcester Co. be granted a hearing, Alderman Mellen said he did not care to hear from any one on this question.

Alderman Webster said it was only courtesy to hear from Mr. Hinds who could undoubtedly explain the matter.

Alderman Saltonstall said the most contemptible form of communication was that of an anonymous letter, and if a corporation was trying to do this to the city of Newton they should not be heard.

Alderman Lothrop suggested that if this company had a grievance they should communicate in writing to the board.

Alderman Weldon then moved to hear the Street Commissioner on the matter.

Alderman Carter said there was nothing secret about the matter as the order was only handed in as a suggestion.

Alderman Weldon's motion was then defeated. Aldermen Baker, Carter, Norris, Pond, Webster and Weldon, (6) voting aye, Aldermen Barber, Brown, Chesley, Day, Ensign, Hutchinson, Kimball, Lothrop, Mellen, Saltonstall, Trowbridge and Pres. Weed, (12), voting nay.

On motion of Alderman Saltonstall it was voted that the paper be not received.

Alderman Trowbridge then stated that he had been assured by the Mayor that the question was being considered and a favorable settlement was expected soon.

A petition of the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Co. for extension of time until Jan. 1, 1903, was referred to the Public Franchise Committee.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The following reports were received: CLAIMS:—Recommending settlement of certain sewer assessments at Chestnut Hill on basis of 50 per cent, and recommending settlement of claims of Helen A. Curtis, for $500, and of Lillian A. Schwaar, for $42.53.

DEPARTMENTS:—Recommending ordinance to authorized recognition of meritorious conduct of police by additional grants of vacation.

In presenting the reports of the Finance Committee, Alderman Lothrop asked the ruling of the chair as to the necessity of that committee passing upon orders for sewer construction.

Alderman Mellen said that he had raised the question in the Finance Committee, as these orders do not state any estimate of cost, and the necessity of the work had already been passed upon by the Public Works committee.

President Weed said he was aware of a difference of opinion and the former custom had been to pass these orders without reference to the Finance Committee. Under the rule, however, all orders authorizing the expenditure of money go to the Finance Committee and there is no question but what this order calls for a specific expenditure of money without stating the amount. He believed it a wise plan for the Finance Committee to pass upon them.

Alderman Mellen did not see how a committee could pass upon the financial features without some estimate as to cost.

Alderman Chesley said the Works committee has an estimate from the City Engineer.

Alderman Hutchinson said the Works committee not only had estimates as to cost but also as to income from sewer assessments and as these matters were carefully considered in that committee he thought it unnecessary for Finance Committee to do the work over again.

President Weed said that these orders are not considered in their financial relation to the bond issues and he believed it important that individual expenditures be considered in relation to the treasury.

Alderman Mellen said that if estimates were furnished the Finance Committee his objections would be obviated.

Alderman Day believed the chair was right, and thought it was the fault of the Finance Committee that these estimates had not been called for.

Alderman Lothrop also favored the position taken by the chair and Alderman Hutchinson said that the particular order on the docket would not be presented that evening as some conditions had not been fulfilled.

Quite a discussion followed the motion of Alderman Trowbridge that the wagon license of Donato Orsdello be revoked. Alderman Hutchinson favored reference to the Finance Committee with power to revoke if they deemed the evidence sufficient, and Alderman Mellen thought the same result could be obtained by sending the licensee a peremptory notice to appear before the Committee.

Alderman Weldon said that persons with wagon licenses in every ward were selling liquor, and that he had found a wagon with 50 lbs. of fish and 2 or 3 kegs of beer.

Alderman Hutchinson's motion was then adopted.

ORDERS.

The following orders were then adopted:

Taking land for sewers in Upland and Oakwood roads; authorizing settlement of sewer assessments against Rose S. Saltonstall and the Chestnut Hill Club, (Alderman Saltonstall excused from voting); appropriating $500 for Curtis claim; appropriating $42.53 for Schwaar claim; authorizing advance from treasury of $15,000 on account of Boylston street; authorizing advance from treasury of $10,000 on account of Water Construction; granting $78,269.53 for city expenses until June 15; appropriating $174 for Abbie F. Humphrey, and $234 for Mary A. Foley; authorizing sale of "pipe yard lot," Austin street; and thorizing water mains on Chaske avenue, ($195); and Riverside street ($345); appropriating $1,400 for furnishing Thompsonville school, as signing hearing June 2 on taking land for drain in Wade street; rescinding Sect. 19 of aldermanic regulations regarding speed of automobiles, and requesting rules committee to consider ordinance authorizing police rewards.

Orders granting the Telephone Co. attachments on Clark street, Washington street and Waltham and Derby streets, were also adopted after Alderman Norris had called attention to the fact that more poles had been attempted located on Glen avenue, than had been authorized by the board, and that the committee of last year had required companies to apply for relocations before work was done.

Orders for sewer construction in Mill street, Upland and Oakwood roads were referred to the Finance Committee.

The President's reference to the Finance committee of the order for a sidewalk on Channing street, was opposed by Alderman Mellen, who said that as a grant of money had already been made for sidewalk work by the Finance committee it was not necessary to refer.

Alderman Hutchinson thought it unreasonable for the Finance committee to do the work of the Public Works committee over again.

Alderman Brown had every confidence in the Works committee but thought the Finance committee ought to go into the merits of each case.

President Weed said that at a conference of the chairman of committees at his office early in the year, to try and expedite the business of the board, it was decided that it was not best for the board to grant money without a written request from the departments and that sidewalk and crosswalk should go to the street commissioner and be included in his monthly grant of expenses. The order in question carries a distinct expenditure of money and under the rule should go to the Finance committee.

Alderman Mellen's appeal from this ruling was seconded by Alderman Day, who thought the grant of money made this a different case from that of a sewer.

Alderman Saltonstall said that if the Street Commissioner can construct a sidewalk without action of the board, it was a waste of time to consider them.

Alderman Mellen did not question the right of the Commissioner under the grant and failed to see why specific expenditures under the grant should again come before the Finance Committee.

President Weed said this was a weak point in the method of procedure, as after passing the grant, the board takes one particular case and authorizes the department to charge it to the same appropriation. The effect being to make a larger grant. In reply to a question Alderman Lothrop said the grants were based on itemized statements from departments.

Alderman Mellen thought this order if passed would be included in the grant already made. President Weed suggested that a method of avoiding this detail might be devised, and believed that as the most important function of the board was the appropriation of money, no action should be taken on these routine matters until the departments had made a request with details and amount. This would throw the detail of work on the department and all would come up in the monthly grant and not in specific cases.

Alderman Hutchinson said this order was included in the grant and it was unnecessary to go to the committee twice.

When Alderman Saltonstall desired to hear from the Street Commissioner Alderman Carter said it was a question as to the form of order and not as to how the commissioner interprets it.

Commissioner Ross when called upon said he should consider the order as within the grant.

The chair was then sustained by a hand vote of 8 to 7.

On motion of Alderman Hutchinson the order in question was then amended by including the words "already granted" and adopted.

Alderman Hutchinson then stated that the City Solicitor advised a change in the ordinances before any speedway order was adopted and a proposed draft was referred to the Committee on Rules.

Alderman Weldon then presented an order for $100 for observance of Memorial Day by Thos. Burnett Camp, Spanish War Veterans, and it was ruled out of order by the chair, who said the action on the report of the Finance committee covered the matter.

Alderman Weldon then presented an order for $50 for the same object.

Alderman Brown said that $500 had been appropriated for Memorial Day for barge hire, band and banquet, to which this Camp had been invited. Flowers are furnished by citizens and can be used by the Camp. They have 15 graves to decorate and the appropriation is more than ample for the day.

Alderman Brown said he understood there was a quarrel over the place in line but with that the city had nothing to do.

Alderman Weldon said the Spanish War Veterans did not wish to accept favors from the G. A. R., and he thought they were entitled to a little recognition on their own account.

The order was then defeated, Alderman Weldon casting the only affirmative vote.

Alderman Trowbridge then presented a resolution that the board was of the opinion that suitable waiting rooms should be provided in Nonantum square by the street railway companies' interested, with particular reference to Sunday traffic, and it was adopted.

And at 10:37 p. m. the board adjourned.

State House Letter.

(Special to the Graphic)

Boston, May 21, 1902.

After a week in which very little was accomplished owing to the absence of a large number of committees on trips of investigation, the General Court settled down to its work for this week with an idea of debating and settling as many matters as possible in the overloaded calendar. The indications are that there is about a month of work still ahead though definite effort in the direction of expediting business should reduce the time somewhat.

The committee on metropolitan affairs has had referred to it within a week the petition of Mayor Weeks of Newton for legislation to authorize the city to construct main drains and common sewers in a part of Beacon street in Boston. This petition comes under the classification of measures which are necessary in the interests of municipalities and which may be admitted at any time.

The bill provides that the city may construct these sewers and main drains in Beacon street from the Newton line easterly to Reservoir lane, thence through said Reservoir lane and land of the Boston and Albany company to connect with the sewers of the town of Brookline, provided they shall not be laid in Beacon street without the consent and in the manner approved by the metropolitan water and sewerage board.

Any damages occasioned shall be ascertained and recovered as in the case of laying out ways or streets in the city of Newton, and the city is authorized to lay, assess and collect sewer assessments upon the land abutting upon said Beacon street in the city of Newton and any other land benefited by said sewers in the manner in which sewer assessments now are or hereafter may be laid, assessed, and collected, in said city of Newton. The indications are that perfecting amendments will be added to the bill as its phraseology does not appear to be clear.

If we could know for a moral certainty that no subway legislation would be enacted this year, the day of prorogation might be forecast with some degree of confidence. The Mayor of Boston has informed Chairman Jones of the committee on metropolitan affairs that he finds it impossible to reach any agreement with the management of the elevated railway company.

What the Mayor insists upon is a twenty-five year lease at a rental of four and one half per cent. The railway company does not care to pay as high as four and one half per cent., unless it can have a thirty year lease. A singular thing in connection with the discussion is that it seems to be generally admitted that the railway company has no hope of getting a longer lease than twenty-five years, while it is also stated there is no probability of its getting a less rental than four and one half per cent.

This would lead to the inevitable conclusion that the railway company really expects to get nothing from this Legislature, and that is about all it is looking for. Meanwhile, two interesting elements in the discussion may be noted. One is that President Carter and his associates on the Associated Board of Trade, and apparently, so, the Public Franchise League, stand solidly with Mayor Collins in his attitude, while the other is that the leading men in the metropolitan affairs committee are disposed to favor the passage of the bill limiting the term to say, twenty-five years, or possibly thirty years, and making the maximum rental four and one-half per cent., or four and seven-eighths per cent., and then leaving the question as to the actual length of the lease and the actual rental to be paid to be settled by the Railroad Commission.

It is interesting news which comes to Boston to the effect that the Boston elevated railway company has entered into an agreement with the association controlling the Newton street railways to bring their cars to the centre of Boston. Less than this could not be done, of course, after a tacit agreement had been reached between the elevated railway people and the Boston and Worcester line to do the same thing. Notwithstanding the objections which appear to be raised by some Boston people (who fear that the suburbanites will monopolize the cars, and therefore hurt the service rather than improve it), it is certainly a matter for general congratulation that a subject which, in former years, created such an immense amount of friction at the State House because of the jealousy of the Boston street railway interests of any infringement of its privileges in the Boston streets, has been adjusted by private conference and agreement in so satisfactory a manner.

City Solicitor Slocum was busy last week in hearings before the committee on ways and means on the bill which has been favorably reported by the committee on metropolitan affairs to provide for the payment of $4000 annually by the metropolitan water district to the town of Clinton as a compensation for its loss of taxation through the construction of the great Wachusett reservoir and the Wachusett dam in that town.

The law departments in Boston, Newton, and the other cities and towns in the district do not spend much time haggling over the question of exact compensation, but do urge that the time is not ripe for a decision as to how much the district ought to pay Clinton, and therefore urge that the matter go over to the next Legislature before definite action is taken.

The ways and means committee last week reported a bill to provide for continuing the work of eliminating grade crossings, with an amendment striking out the section referred to in this correspondence to provide for bringing in street railway companies as a fourth party in the payment of the expense on proceedings already begun. They recommended an addition to another section which would permit the bringing in of street railways in preliminary proceedings up to the time when a commission was appointed. A large number of amendments were offered to the measure when it was under discussion on Friday, but they were all rejected and the bill was engrossed as it came from the committee. It is now in the calendar of the Senate.

On Monday next, the Senate will take up the bill to provide for the abolition of the death penalty, favorably reported by a bare majority of the joint judiciary committee, with Mr. Dana and six associates dissenting.

The national conference of charities and correction meets in Detroit, Michigan, the latter part of this month, and the Governor has appointed Hon. Albert L. Harwood of Newton, who is one of the members of the board of insanity, a delegate to this conference.

A bill extending for a year, the time in which the special committee on the Charles river dam must report was engrossed in the House yesterday.

Mr. Dana has given notice of an intention to offer various new sections in the bill to amend and perfect the Revised Laws, which has been reported by the judiciary committee. The original amendments were drawn, it is understood, by the commissioners for the consolidation of the statutes, and cover errors and conflicts with other chapters which have been discovered since the new codification went into effect. Doubtless Mr. Dana's amendments are of the same nature.

MANN.

AMATEURS IN VAUDEVILLE.

GRATIFYING SUCCESS OF ENTERTAINMENT CLUB'S PROGRAM IN CHANNING CHURCH PARLORS WEDNESDAY EVENING.

The pet adjectives of vaudeville traditions—"bright, brisk and breezy," may be truthfully applied in describing the performance of the Entertainment Club in Channing church parlors, Wednesday evening of last week. A crowded house, a fine show and repeated demands for encores tell the story in a nutshell.

The first number was a well-acted skit "William and Victim," by Miss Florence W. Hills and Mr. Leverett Bentley. It was skilfully handled and reflected much credit upon these well known club members.

A travesty on a minstrel first part by Messrs. Ralph W. Angier, Guy B. Haskell and "Jack" Farquhar seemed to strike a sympathetic cord from the front row to the line of staudes at the rear. It was an even race for laurels with three favorites in the field and proved a "united" success. Mr. Charles L. Bixby, Jr., furnished a delightful surprise by an exhibition of club swinging that fully equaled professional acts of a similar character.

Master Howland Ellis sang two very pleasing selections that called forth much admiration.

Miss Grayce E. Cook, reader, was given a flattering reception. Her contributions were of an exceptionally high order and fully merited the many rounds of applause she received. "The Sphinx," was an illusion of the Herrmann-Kellar type and would have pleased any of the great magicians as it did the audience. Mr. Frank W. Weber prepared it, assisted by Mr. Bixby.

As pretty a picture as could be imagined was the "Sunflower Chorus" with Mrs. Ralph C. Emery, soloist. The latter was in fine voice and was ably assisted by eight young women. Their "golf dance," with colored light effects, was a distinctive feature.

The "song sheet" of Messrs. Chesa W. Elinn and Ralph S. Howe, with a half-dozen colored boys scored a big hit. The principals sang and acted well and had substantial support with the liveliest of "live notes." Without mention of the untiring efforts of Miss Elizabeth L. Calley, accompanist, whose energy and careful playing was in no small measure responsible for the satisfactory results, any account would be incomplete.

The stage management of Mr. Ralph C. Emery was without a flaw. Mr. Bancroft L. Goodwin was his right hand man. The ushers were headed by Mr. Horace C. Harrington and wore grotesque costumes as well as faithfully performing their duties.

Miss Ellen D. Jackson.

On May 17th there passed from our midst one who was well known and respected. Miss Ellen D. Jackson, daughter of the late Hon. William Jackson, died at her home, the old Jackson homestead.

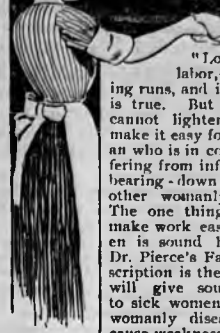

She was a member of one of Newton's oldest families and was born April 26, 1825 in the house where she had always lived.

She was closely identified during her long and useful career with the social and religious life in Newton, was highly educated and very artistic. She was a charter member of the Eliot church, the founder and for 37 years the president of the Freedmen's Aid Society, which started during the civil war and did such faithful service for Hampton and Tuskegee institutions. She was a life long friend and admirer of Gen. Armstrong and Booker T. Washington; was an honorary member of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., justly so, for 47 Jacksons went from Newton to the battle of Concord and Lexington. She leaves three sisters, Miss Caroline B. Jackson, Miss Cornelia W. Jackson of Newton, Mrs. Mary B. Curtis of North Tolland, N. Y. The funeral was from the homestead on Monday and was largely attended by her many relatives and friends.

Rev. Wm. H. Davis, pastor of Eliot church, officiated. The Mendelssohn quartet sang "Out of the Shadow," "Rock of Ages," and "Looking this Way." The pallbearers were her nephews: Messrs. Chas. B. Fillebrown, Edwin F. Smallwood, Walter M. Jackson, W. H. Jackson, Harry H. Keith, Herbert M. Bacon, and Dr. A. C. M. Moir of Newton, and Mr. Lewis A. Hall of New York and Bay Mills, Michigan.

She was buried in the family lot in the old Centre street burying ground.

EASY WORK

"Love lightens labor," the saying runs, and in a sense it is true. But even love cannot lighten labor or make it easy for the woman who is in constant suffering from inflammation, bearing-down pains or other womanly diseases. The one thing that can make work easy for women is sound health, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the thing that will give sound health to sick women. It cures womanly diseases which cause weakness, and cures the backache, sideache, nervousness and other ills which are the result of womanly diseases.

"I suffered from female weakness for five months," writes Miss Belle Hedrick, of Nye Putnam Co., W. Va. "I was treated by a good physician but he never seemed to do me any good. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce for advice, which I received, telling me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' When I had used the medicines a month, my health was much improved. I was continued to improve until now I can work at almost all kinds of household work. I had scarcely any appetite, but it is all right now. Have gained several pounds in weight. Dr. Pierce's medicines have done wonderfully well here. I would advise all who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Cantata "Hiawatha" Given

Substantial evidences of the success of "Hiawatha," a cantata by Frederick R. Burton, presented Wednesday evening in Temple hall, Newtonville, by the choir of the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, were the frequent applause, the many floral favors and the words of hearty commendation that were heard on all sides. An unqualified success but mildly expresses the verdict of the audience.

The stage arrangement surpassed expectations and the performance itself equalled if not excelled anything of the kind ever seen in the city.

The soloists were Mrs. Helen Boyce Metcalf, soprano; Mrs. Lillian Cooke Dearborn, alto; Mr. J. C. Bartlett, tenor and Mr. E. P. Leonard bass.

Mr. F. H. Wheeler was the director and Mr. E. R. Metcalf accompanist.

Waiting Room in Nonantum Square.

To the Editor of the Graphic: Dear Sir—In answer to a communication in last week's issue I fully agree with the writer that some means should be provided for the convenience of the travelling public and that the railway companies centering in Nonantum square should be compelled to establish a waiting room for the shelter and accommodation of women and children as well as men, the same as exists in Harvard square and other terminals.

The people, so to be accommodated, are patrons of the railroad company simply, the city in no way being benefited—our streets were widened, our abutments taxed for the improvement—the square now filled with standing cars, the sidewalks with a crowd, who on Sundays and holidays are out on pleasure bent, the road reaps the benefit, they make Newton square a convenient transfer station, then the city should oblige them to attend to the wants of their patrons.

The erection of a sanitary in our public square would be most unsightly, and a detriment to all adjoining property. There are several vacant stores at present in the square and available for a car station.

I believe our city government to be in every way capable of remedying this evil and will deem it best to oblige the companies to provide a waiting room for both sexes or put an injunction on the railway company to oblige the city to pay for it.

Stag Party at Eliot.

There was a pleasant gathering at Eliot on the evening of May 8th, when a party of young men surprised Mr. Edgar Casson on the occasion of his twenty-first birthday. After a banquet, at which the host was toasted many times, and his health, prosperity and long life invoked, music closed a very merry evening. "May his shadow never grow less."

"The Happy Despatch."

A charming and picturesque Japanese opera bouffe "The Happy Despatch," delighted a large audience in Hummell clubhouse assembly hall, Wednesday evening. It was given under the auspices of the Helping Hand Society of Grace Episcopal church and proved an unqualified success.

THE CEMETERY.

In Beautiful Attire For Memorial Day.

Many Improvements During The Year.

Memorial Day with its universal and fragrant tributes to the dead marks the climax of the gardeners' art in the cemeteries all over the country.

The present tendency towards lawn effects is being adopted at our beautiful cemetery on Walnut street, and but one of the old fashioned ugly iron fences now remains on its grounds.

During the year, Supt. Ross has made many improvements in the appearance of the grounds by setting out hardy shrubs, the sodding over of many of the gravel paths, and the building of a new rocky near the entrance. The latter is a most beautiful part of the cemetery, the rocks and ferns being grouped under the shade of a grove of spruce trees in a most attractive manner.

The flowers in use at the present time are pansies, English daisies, silene and forget-me-nots, and the bank of rhododendrons near the superintendent's house will soon be in flower.

An addition to the cemetery architecture is a magnificent mausoleum erected by Mr. A. R. Mitchell of Newtonville, in a fine location near the Soldiers' Monument.

A bed of cacti opposite the mausoleum will also attract attention.
The landscape effects in this beautiful cemetery should also be noted.
The ponds and fountains, fine lawns, graceful trees and shrubbery combine to give a charming vista which ever way the eye may turn.

Taken all in all the Newton cemetery with its spring garments of grace and color will well repay a visit and will be an additional source of pride in our beautiful city.

THE HOSPITAL.

Interesting Address by Dr.
F. E. Porter,

At the Opening of the New Contagious Ward.

It is recorded in some of the reports of the Hospital that while a clergyman and a physician of this city were together one cold, dark night in the autumn of 1879, calling upon a poor woman, a little out of the centre of one of the wards of the city, they gave voice to the idea that it would be a good thing to have a hospital where this woman and others like her, could resort in times of distress and disease. Which one of the gentlemen first gave voice to this thought I don't know, but it at once became a common and acceptable suggestion between them, and soon afterwards physicians of the city responded to a call, and a little later meetings of public minded men and women took place, which in a few years bore fruit, and two buildings were opened for the reception of patients. As one of several medical men, who witnessed the opening of this hospital, it has been a series of surprises to witness one advance after another, sometimes two or three advances moving at nearly the same time, at least in the same year. At the end of the historical note there is an epitomized statement of facts, figures and buildings, running down to about the present time, and now we are here to open a wing of the contagious department, and a perfected and enlarged internal medicine ward, which for air, light, sunshine and good cheer are well in advance of others in cities of our class, and for finish and style of hospital structural work are representative of the latest and best designs.

Now, I suppose, if the benefit to a community derived from a work and undertaking of this nature was the end result only, in shortening the number of days in a year of sickness, and returning to their homes and business a large body of persons, who under more depressing and less sanitary surroundings would be incapacitated a longer time, that of itself, to say nothing of the easement of mind of many to know they are not a burden to others during this time, would feel well repaid; but when we recall a number of other advantages, by products wrapped up in this enterprise, that very much enlarges the scope and field of this work, the benefits to a community are seen to be many fold. At this time I will mention but a few without stopping to comment upon them, viz:

The benefits of associated effort, as a corollary we become better acquainted with each other, and ourselves for that matter. The education of trained nurses is a large outgrowth, concerning which a great deal could be said. Then again, it brings the ends of the city together, in one of the best relations, that of helped and helper, giver and receiver, and should, be so fashioned, it seems to me, as to be without any strain or financial hardship to leave a sting upon the patient or patient's family. That is one reason why a large endowment should attach itself to us here.

Again, it advances the institutional art of handling the sick with increasing ease and simplicity. It is a great help to medicine and surgery. It helps us to approach closer to disease. Much might be said here.

As I said once before when talking about the Hospital elsewhere. It is an uplift and stimulant to all the workers connected, or who have been connected with this enterprise. Business men of means and responsibilities, in the habit of looking at projects in a large way, have allied themselves with the development and standing of this institution. Have put and are putting time, service and substance into this charity. Women of refinement, capacity and ability have associated themselves into aid societies, to give color and favor, to furnish, and give finish to the coarser endeavors of men, to remedy many oversights, and help in many unseen and uncounted, and to most, and to me, unknown, though none the less valuable, ways the benevolent work along.

Physicians and surgeons of this city have spent and are spending hours, days, nights attending to the emergencies of the recurrent and growing want of wards, private rooms, and in all the medical departments of this industry.

General medicine has developed during the past 25 or 30 years with such speed, that it becomes necessary to be in touch with a hospital to meet all the demands of medical opinion.

The many stains and tests, the disease producing bacteria, the sterilizing oven, increasing use of the microscope, and the uses of electricity, as well as many other devices developed for the diagnosis, detection of the stage, and perhaps an indication of the termination of a disease, as well as treatment, make physicians better equipped when a hospital is in the vicinity.

Nurses return to review the scenes of their educational days, to behold the steady unfolding of hospital work, and to be cheered and encouraged to further endeavors in their chosen occupation.

Patients return to remark upon their experiences, their helps and hindrances during the days of their illness. To shake the hand of the nurse and doctor who attended to their wants, and to perhaps leave some little thing marking their good will and interest here.

Committees on Hospital construction from other towns and cities come here to see and learn the new ideas, and the working of a charity developing along somewhat different lines from most all others of its class; to implant some of them in other places.

Delegates and representatives of societies and churches come here to render services and song, distribute flowers or some delicacy for the assistance, diversion and happyfying influences that flow therefrom.

And even visitors in the city and strangers come here, counting this one of the attractions of the city. They pace our corridors, look into the children's ward, operating room, sterilizing room, passing through the tunnelled walk to the Nurses' Home, and go away with words of admiration and compliment, and I sometimes think for the most part of any remnant of superstition or prejudice they had entertained toward hospitals.

It is a charity of the first class; if I were to employ an expression of trade, it is a "slick article" of its kind, and a power for good, as illustrated to many who are not situated so as to behold it often, to wit:—faith in each other, confidence in the works and ways of others outside the sphere of their own heads and hands, thinking and acting. It has a physical, mental, and moral influence that, to those having received and realized its benefits, can only be measured if they should find it had suddenly disappeared from among them and this community.

It has received much, it has given much, and much more is expected of it. It has passed the period of experiment, it seems to me, and is as permanent as anything else in the city. And so long as Christian civilization brings forth men and women of such strength of purpose and intelligence and public spirit, as we have now all about us, this institution, and others of its kind, are going to live and "stand and shine brighter and brighter unto the perfect day."

Now in view of this, I think I can say for my associates in the medical profession, that it is a source of abiding gratification, and satisfaction and pride, that we have found our efforts so well seconded, strengthened, supported and upheld by such a host of generous and public minded citizens, as is shown by this attractive group of buildings and all that they stand for, and in this last and in all respects most modern expression of their good will. And to the City government of Newton, that they have participated as opportunity and the need arose, for such comfortable, commodious and comely structures for the contagious sick.

It contradicts the saying of one who wrote, "our good deeds we write in water, while our evil deeds are engraved in brass."

Rather, it may be said to bear out the older writing, the parable of the sower, and that last part which reads, "and some seed fell on good ground, and springing up bore fruit, some thirty, some sixty and some a hundred fold."

A few of our number have passed on and out of our sight. Their words and works are as a grateful fragrance left behind; while it is in the annals of medicine to take up the broken and unfinished threads of endeavor where others left them, and carry forward the work with our might and understanding. And I doubt not when we fall and fall, equally strong, well equipped men having passed through the years of academic, technical and hospital life, with standards and ideals drawn from contact with the masters of medicine and surgery in this and other lands, will step forward to sustain and maintain the fair and growing reputation of this beneficent and benevolent institution.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Unprofessional Discoverers of Science

The greatest contributions to science have been made by those who have been devoted to other pursuits, but who have taken up different lines of study as diversions. This seems remarkable. One would think that those who give all their time to any occupation, would be the first to find out their needs and how to meet them. Investigation shows, however, that, most mechanical inventions and improvements, come from outside parties. This is as true of great discoveries as small ones, what an encouragement we have in this fact, for the cultivation of the habit of observation. Nature is a book of profound knowledge, but like the Bible of which it is a counterpart, it reveals its truths to those who have eyes to see.

Sir William Herschel is a good illustration of this in the field of astronomy. His father was a music teacher, in which profession he was succeeded by his son William. The family at first lived in Bohemia, and on account of the disturbed condition of the country during the bitter persecutions of the Protestants, the educational advantages of the family were very limited. But William devoted himself to private study, and in a few years became a master of music, both theoretical and practical. He was a teacher in Hanover, where the family came from their persecutions in Bohemia. After a few years he began to study astronomy as an amateur. There were but few books, and fewer instruments at that time to aid him, but his growing interest in the subject conquered his difficulties and made him the foremost astronomer of the world at the beginning of the 19th century. The largest glass in use at that time was only 2 1/2 inches aperture. He was too poor to buy a telescope, and during

Memorial Address by the
Rev. J. C. Jaynes,At Dedication of New Ward
At Newton Hospital.

We have assembled here today to dedicate these walls of brick and mortar to the cause of human life and health. Doubtless they would serve their purpose equally well without the spoken word and the formal ceremony. But utility needs sentiment to redeem it from mere mechanics, and plain work loses none of its force by being touched with emotion. And so a service of this nature has its proper place, not because it improves the practical worth of a building, but because it accentuates in human hearts the cause for which the building stands and emphasizes those spiritual values of which the outward form is the visible symbol.

But this occasion appeals to us with unusual significance. There is in our hearts a feeling of mingled joy and sorrow—joy because the usefulness of our hospital is to be enlarged by this new ward, sorrow because he whose name it bears has been called from our earthly fellowship. It is fitting therefore, that, as we thankfully celebrate the growing beneficence of this institution, we lay a memorial wreath upon the grave of one, whose ardent devotion and unselfish service have contributed so largely to its success and prosperity.

I deem it a distinguished privilege to be the bearer of that wreath today. For Dr. Thayer was my family physician and my friend. Not only by virtue of his professional skill, but also perforce of his goodness of soul, his presence was a joy at my fireside and his name given a loving utterance in my home.

But why plead my personal claim? You all had an equal share in his abundant good will and his genial friendship. Let us then as a group of friends moved by a common purpose, try to recall what he was to us and tell in simple speech the story of his useful life.

He was born in Shirley, Mass., and inherited the sturdy wholesome qualities of that New England stock, which drew its strength from the hills and formed its character in the simplicity of country life.

At an early age he came with his family to Newton, where he received his education in the public schools. Choosing medicine as his profession, he graduated with distinction from Harvard Medical School and then for some time was attached to the Marine Hospital at Chelsea. Subsequently he began general practice at Allston, but soon after, having an opportunity to associate himself with Dr. Whitney he improved it and settled in West Newton. From that time forward his practice steadily increased, until he became one of the leading physicians of the city, valued as a man of ability, wisdom and force, loved in a multitude of homes for his ministrations, respected and honored wherever his name was known. And so for more than a quarter of a century he came and went among us, his life interwoven with the life of the community, his interest given unreservedly to its welfare, his service its privilege to receive.

In his official connection with this hospital he was devoted itself, and displayed an executive ability which was speedily recognized by all. His interest was neither mercenary nor exclusively professional. He perceived the benevolent value of the hospital, its moral influence, its importance as a source of education and civilization. It was this larger idea that filled his mind and gave breadth and dignity to his motives. He stood among the first to conceive and to put into execution the plan of building here an institution of this kind. Public confidence in him as a man had much to do with the generous contributions that flowed in to make the dream a reality. He saw that reality grow from a modest beginning to its present position of importance and influence. And through all the stages of its growth he thought and worked generously and unselfishly in its behalf.

As Chairman of the Executive Committee his judgment had exceptional weight. As one of the administrative board, his tactful wisdom and liberal spirit promoted harmonious action. As a member of the staff his illuminating common sense and kindly bearing toward all within these walls made his presence ever welcomed with delight and as has been well said, "helped to give the hospital a tone of cheer and brightness."

Without disparaging the zeal and service of his professional associates, it can be truthfully said that, in a special sense, Dr. Thayer's work has been built into this institution, and through all its history to the present hour can be traced the influence of his head and heart.

But the emphasis of our thought passes by his official labors and rests upon that phase of his life which reveals him as the physician in the home.

The art of healing has been minutely specialized in these modern days. This process has developed high degrees of skill and precision and has greatly enriched the science of medicine. But it has not abolished the need of the all-round family physician or diminished his peculiar privilege and influence. However much the specialist gains in simplicity of duty and independence of life, he loses largely in his detachment from the hearts of the people. The general practitioner, on the other hand, passes into the intimacy of the household life, becomes associated with its joys and sorrows, wins its confidence and love, finds himself the friend and trusted adviser and acquires the good old-fashioned title of "our doctor." That indeed, is an exalted place to hold. It has its burdens and annoyances, but also its high privileges and inspiring rewards. I need not say that Dr. Thayer filled with natural ease this office of the home physician. He possessed to an unusual degree the qualities that fitted him for this many-sided work. First of all he had the instincts of benevolence of good will. He loved people. He rejoiced in his ministry of health, not because of the professional successes it furnished, but because it lifted his fellowmen out of pain and weakness into joy and strength. And viewing his vocation from this standpoint, he abandoned himself to all its exacting demands. Without consideration for himself, without thought of pecuniary reward, he went about doing good.

The life of a popular physician always carries with it innumerable opportunities to overwork, to respond to unreasonable calls, to serve without compensation. Whether he accepts them or not depends upon his point of view. Dr. Thayer accepted them graciously, patiently, cheerfully. In that fact is rooted the love in which he was held by all—especially the humbler classes, whose affection was typically expressed in the words of a poor old woman, who, when he lay stricken down with his last illness, said to the one attending her: "I pray for Dr. Thayer every night."

He was however, more than a physician to the ill of the body. He was a physician to the troubles of the spirit also. The regard in which he was held, the confidence which he inspired, opened to him opportunities to speak the wise word, solve the domestic problem, give the hand of comforting help. And many a home can bear witness to his unstinted kindness in such hours of darkness. It is indeed possible that if he had limited his services by more self-reservation, he would not have broken down in his prime, but in this saving his life he would, in a higher sense, have lost it by the denial of his most natural and beautiful impulses.

And then those who knew him could not have failed to be impressed with the catholicity of his sympathies—the tolerance of his spirit—the fair, open minded way in which he measured men and ideas. He knew nothing of professional bigotry and had no intemperate judgments to make. Quick to condemn charlatanism, straight forward as truth in his hostility to pretense and wrong, he nevertheless, kept his mind free from prejudice and lips guileless of hurtful speech. He was not the bond-servant of any school or the slave of any tradition. His mind was superior to paraisal rules. He simply asked for truth and followed where it led, asked for the right thing and adopted it regardless of its source, asked for the way to the light and finding it moved forward without fear.

Again we all remember how generously he was endowed with what we call personality. There is the personality that awes by its majesty. There is the personality that antagonizes by its aggressive force. His was neither. It was the personality that draws all men unto it by its radiant warmth and brightness. Doubtless it is largely the gift of nature. For neither schools, nor art, nor self discipline can create that, whose attractiveness lies in the very fact that it is natural and spontaneous. In his case it was difficult to define and difficult to lay the finger upon its source. Was it in the hearty voice, or the honest eye, or the fine benevolent face? Or was it the mysterious outshining of the kind and generous spirit within? One never knew. One only knew that it was there like an atmosphere, giving to his presence a charm that won the little child to his knee and banished all distrust in man or woman. It was the garment of his life. It went with him on the street as he fellow-shipped with the busy world. It went with him to the bedside of pain, however, harassed and troubled his own heart might be.

It is a blessed memory for those who recall his visitations at such times. The fevered patient in the upper chamber—the painful uncertainty and depression pervading the silent house. And then the ring of the door bell, the cheery voice in the hall, the mounting footsteps on the stair, and then—Dr. Thayer was in the room. Somehow, the whole atmosphere instantly changed. There was the hearty greeting, the gentle touch, the diverting conversation—all softening and concealing the raw, crude edges of a professional diagnosis. It was like a social call, and one felt all the time that the vigilant eye and active mind were intent upon the serious aspects of the case. And when he went away there were light and hope and a new courage in the household.

A brilliant man once said that the universe could have been improved by making health contagious instead of disease. But the Maker of the universe provided for that also. Health is contagious. Good nature is contagious. Cheerfulness and faith and hope and love transmute themselves. And the greatest ally of the medical specific is a cheerful, hopeful human presence to prescribe and administer it.

But beneath all technical skill and executive force and charm of personality was the man himself, the living spring of genuine goodness. The visible life was fed from this invisible source. In the arena of the world where convictions clash and differences prevail, it would be too much to say that he met with no opposition; but we can be sure that he never had an opinion dictated by mean motives and never even considered a course of action which was not born of honest and good intentions.

When Walter Scott lay dying he said to his son-in-law: "Lockhart, be a good man—nothing else will sustain you when you come to lie here." Dr. Thayer was a good man in the full orbed meaning of that word; a full orbed meaning of that word; a good man not only because he was good in himself, but because he desired to be good for something; and in his practical life he served that desire with heart and mind and strength. And when he lay waiting through the long months for the end to come, we can well believe that he was haunted by no memories of wrongs committed and powers perverted and misused.

All too soon, it seems to us, he was summoned to rest from his labors. The age of fifty-two seems inadequate and brief. It is if one counts life by length of years, but if helpfulness and worth are units of measurement his life was long and rounded rich and full.

He won no wide distinction, wore no laurel of fame, but what is better still, he went on bearing with him the ripened sheaves of a well spent life; loved and blessed by rich and poor in the community where he served.

More than a year has come and gone since he passed away, and now we meet to perpetuate in this formal manner his memory for future generations. For them he can be only a name. But for us, who knew him and loved him he is vastly more. We miss his presence. We mourn his departure, but if we bow our heads in sorrow, let us also, remembering what he gave to us and the community-life, join our voices in the thanksgiving psalm.

Unprofessional Discoverers of Science.

his spare hours of musical teaching, he set about making one for himself. By slow degrees and indomitable perseverance he finally produced a Newtonian telescope of six feet focal length, with which he swept the heavens with the greatest delight and profit.

Herschel soon became distinguished for his discoveries and learned paper, but he continued his musical teaching for many years, until George III of England awarded him a thousand dollars a year as his private astronomer. With Herschel's name and fame should be linked that of his sister, Caroline Lucretia, to whom he owed much of his success both as musician and astronomer. After he became established in England as a teacher of music she joined him, and became proficient in vocal and instrumental music. And when he turned his attention to astronomy she became as interested as her brother. She was his constant assistant and executed the laborious calculations which were connected with his observations. Herschel's and his sister's business was teaching music, but astronomy made their fame.

In like manner, the world is indebted to an unprofessional observer for the outline of the present science of geology. This was James Hutton, born in Scotland, 1726. He began life as a law student, but having a love for chemistry he gave up law to study medicine, as most nearly related to chemistry. But he desired a still closer touch with nature, and became a systematic farmer. In this occupation he was led to observe more closely the nature of rocks and soils, and their relation to each other, and the forces at work every where, to change the former into the later. After many years of incidental study, he arrived at the conclusion that the natural forces of earth and air and water if given time enough, would account for the present aspects of nature. These forces are still at work, making continents, and every farmer has wonderful opportunities for noting the record of the past ages in his fields. The same processes are now going on in Alaska and Greenland, that once were at work over Europe and America.

Another important branch of geology was brought to light by a sharp eyed chamois hunter in the Alps. This hunter, Perandin, by name, had noticed the great boulders, scattered over the mountains and after a while began to connect this fact with the movements of the great rivers of ice called glaciers. He then reasoned that the presence of such boulders, scattered over various countries, could be accounted for in the same way. On suggesting this theory to prominent geologists he was ridiculed; but thirty-two years later Agassiz accepted it, and founded upon it his great theory of the Ice Age.

One of the greatest discoveries of physical science was made by a young Quaker, who began the practice of medicine in London in 1801. This was the fan ois Dr. Thomas Young, who was one of the tallest intellectual giants in that intellectual age. He had a versatile genius, and brought forth many remarkable discoveries in science; but the most remarkable was the theory of undulating light. These scientific results were worked out as diversions from his regular work as a physician. But he became so conspicuous as a scientist that he had to publish many of his learned papers, anonymously, lest he should injure his practice as a physician.

Chemistry also was immensely advanced by the discoveries of a back country Quaker young man named John Dalton, whose observations of the weather led him to invent the rain gauge and which led to the discovery of the atomic theory of matter.

Biology is indebted to Goethe, for the announcement of its first principle, "The Metamorphoses of Plants." This incidental discovery would have given him fame if he had not written a stanza of poetry. This coincidence shows the connection of and use of the imagination in science as well as poetry. Imagination is needed to bridge the gaps between discovered facts.

One of the greatest aids to science is the microscope. The invention of this instrument long baffled the efforts of the greatest minds. It was the good fortune of Joseph Jackson Lister, an English amateur optician, to direct the final steps that made the compound microscope a practical instrument of untold usefulness. The world is full of discoveries for bright eyes and quick minds.

D. societies' banquet to the senior class; Saturday, June 7, afternoon, annual drill of Girls' Military Battalion; Sunday, June 8, annual baccalaureate service; Monday, June 9, p. m., class exercises; Tuesday, June 10, Commencement Day, exercises to be held in Auburndale Congregational church at 11 a. m. Address by Rev. Alexander McKenzie of Cambridge.

A Sudden Twinge

Of pain is generally the first warning of an attack of rheumatism. It feels as if the disease were in the bones or muscles, but the real cause of rheumatism is found in impure blood. In order to cure rheumatism the blood must be cleansed of the poisonous impurities which are the cause of the disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been very successful in the cure of rheumatism, because it entirely cleanses the blood from the poisonous substances which are the cause of the disease. It not only purifies the blood but by increasing the activity of the blood-making glands, it increases the supply of pure, rich blood which adds to the vigor of every physical organ.

Mr. R. A. McKnight, of Carleton, Williamsburg Co., S. C., writes: "I had been troubled with rheumatism for twelve years, so bad that I could not leave my bed. I was badly crippled. Tried many doctors and two of them gave me up to die. None of them did me much good. The pains in my back, hips and legs (and at times in my head) would nearly kill me. My appetite was very bad. Everybody who saw me said I must die. I took five bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and four vials of 'Pelle's,' and to-day my health is good after suffering twelve years with rheumatism."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the sluggish liver.

VACATION THOUGHTS.

The warm weather of the last few days has awakened thoughts of weeks or months at the seashore, country or mountains and plans are now being made for the summer rest and vacation.

At such a time it is well to remember those who through poverty or affliction are unable to escape the heat and distress of mid-summer, and make your own vacation, happier and brighter by a donation to one of the other of the many excellent charities of this sort.

The Mother's Rest in our own city, managed by the ladies of Newton Centre, is a work that gives pleasure to both mothers and children and a small sum here will add largely to the health and happiness of the tired women and children of Boston.

The Floating Hospital for sick children does a unique and much needed work, which is fairly well known and appeals particularly to lovers of children.

The Country Week of the Boston Y. M. C. Union is an established feature of that institution, and does on a larger scale the same work as the Mother's Rest.

There are many other channels through which the same good work can be done, and we only desire at this time to stimulate the thoughts of our readers on this line, with the hope that some one's pleasure may be increased thereby.

THE PHILIPPINES.

It is not our purpose, in this column, to often step outside the domain of local comment, but the extraordinary interest taken in the recent magnificent speech of Senator Hoar, leads us to reprint this week, the views of the other side of the case.

Senator Clapp although one of the new members of that body, has given the administration view of the matter in clear, logical language, and his speech made a great impression at Washington.

We ask our readers to contrast the constructive and practical statesmanship shown in the speech of Senator Clapp, with the beautiful rhetoric, but impractical position taken by Senator Hoar.

We have received several anonymous communications of late, one signed "A Constant Reader," the other "The Soldiers' Friend." There is no objection to the publication of these matters except an invariable rule that the names of all our correspondents should be known by the editor as a matter of good faith.

The city is to be congratulated on the return of Mr. S. Warren Davis as a master in the High School. Mr. Davis is a warm favorite with both parents and pupils and the school committee has secured a distinct success in again securing his services.

Funeral of Henry Esbach

Funeral services for the late Henry Esbach were held on Saturday at Newtonville, where he had made his home for a number of years with his daughter, Mrs. Edward W. Davis.

Rev. R. T. Loring of Newtonville officiated repeating the Lord's Prayer in German as a very graceful tribute to the nationality of the deceased and many of his friends.

In accordance with the wish, many times expressed, by Mr. Esbach during his illness of nearly four months, a beautiful rendering was given of "Es ist der Tag des Herrn," and "Eine feste Burg" by Messrs. Schumann, Hain, Hackebarth and Lorber of the Boston Symphony Orchestra upon French horns, making a most appropriate addition to the simple burial services.

Mr. Esbach was identified with the musical interests of Boston for upwards of 50 years, being one of the original partners in the Boston Musical Instrument Manufacturing Co. as well as one of the founders and until within a few years an active member of the Orpheus Musical Society.

The remains were taken to Mt. Auburn for cremation and the ashes will be placed in the family lot.

SCHOOL BOARD.

PROLONGED EXECUTIVE SESSION THE CHIEF FEATURE OF WEDNESDAY EVENING'S SESSION—APPOINTMENTS MADE AND CONFIRMED.

The greater part of Wednesday evening's meeting of the school board was devoted to the consideration of appointments and confirmation of teachers and consumed nearly three hours executive session.

A remonstrance to the one session plan in the Bigelow district was presented in the form of a largely signed petition; this is to meet one in favor of the scheme that was offered last month. Both sides will be given a hearing before the full board June 18th.

The sum of $18,273 was appropriated for the May expenses.

The social science club was granted the use of the Jackson school house, Nonantum, for a vacation school.

S. Warren Davis, who left the High school a year ago, is to be reinstated as senior master in Greek, at the High school, beginning in September. The announcement will be learned with much pleasure.

The board appointed Samuel J. Thurber to fill the vacancy at the High school left by the resignation of Robert R. Truitt. The board is to create next month the office of second junior master.

Ethel D. Richards was appointed laboratory assistant at the High school to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Agnes C. Childs.

Gertrude E. Drake was appointed to fill the vacancy at the Horace Mann school left by the resignation of Grace E. Curtis.

Newton Club.

C. E. Morey and W. G. Morey were high men at duplicate whist Monday evening, with 7 plus.

Ideal Vacation for Teachers

At the close of the American Institute of Instruction which meets in Burlington, Vt., in July, there will be offered teachers and others who may attend the meetings an unusual opportunity for spending a delightful outing of a fortnight or a month among the beautiful green hills and the lake country of Vermont.

Burlington, situated on an eminence overlooking Lake Champlain and in full view of the Green and Adirondack Mountains, is universally conceded to have no equal in New England for beauty of location and general attractiveness. In the country surrounding the city are many romantic drives and walks, and these, with the attractive side trips available, and the opportunities for sailing and boating and fishing on the lake, make Burlington indeed a delightfully fascinating place for the visitor.

Within easy distance from Burlington by lake steamer and by the Central Vermont Railway are several famous resorts and natural attractions. Mt. Mansfield, the crowning peak of the Green Mountains, nearly 4500 feet above the sea, from which Montreal and the White Mountains are discernible, is one of the most popular points for the tourist travel. It can be visited in a day from Burlington.

Vergennes, the smallest city in the U. S., and Fort Ethan Allen are "next door" to Burlington. Ausable Chasm, sometimes called the Yosemite of the East, is an hour's sail across the lake, and Highgate Springs, St. Albans, and other charming summering resorts are not far away. Montreal, with its delightful contrasts of ancient and modern architecture, is also conveniently near, and from it side trips may be made at small cost, to the far-famed Saguenay River, historic Quebec, the Thousand Islands, and Lacine Rapids. Illustrated book describing this region will be sent for a 4 c. stamp enclosed to T. H. Hanley, N. E. P. A., Central Vermont Ry., 306 Washington St., Boston.

Police Paragraphs.

Dr. C. E. Dearborn of Jewett street, Newton, reported to the police Monday the larceny of pigeons from his barn.

Charles Williams, colored, a pupil of the Barnard school, West Newton, was arraigned in court last Saturday morning for misbehaving in school, refusing to take punishment and miscellaneous acts of misconduct, all of which were enumerated in a lengthy complaint. Charles pleaded guilty. The only witnesses were heard master Applebee, the principal of the Barnard school and the little fellow's teacher. In the court room were Supt. of Schools Fifield, Capt. S. E. Howard of the school board, trustee officer W. J. Furbush and two other school teachers. The court decided that the case should be given a full hearing, and listened to a recital of the boy's actions. They included whispering and nearly a score of misdemeanors. Cole Williams, the defendant's father, made a statement to the court in which he asked that the boy be not sent away. Judge Kennedy decided the proper course was to commit the defendant to the Middlesex county training school at North Chelmsford, and this was done.

Norumbega Park.

Norumbega Park, that attractive resort at Abundant, on the beautiful Charles River, has its regular grand opening today, Memorial Day, and it is promised that patrons will find this resort more beautiful than ever, both in its natural growth of trees and shrubbery and in the landscape gardening effects; on the other hand, not only have extensive additions and improvements been made the past winter, but Manager Alberte has arranged to have on hand a greater and more important variety of attractions than ever before.

Taking a swing around the park the visitor will probably first note that the Norumbega boathouse is twice as large as it was last season. This makes Norumbega's popular boathouse the largest on the river, and it is a great addition, architecturally, to the park. Many new natural enclosures for animals have been added to the zoological garden, most important of all being the big enclosure for the buffaloes adjoining the deer park. This contains the most important feature of the zoo, Chief, said to the largest buffalo in this country.

At the rustic theatre nearly 500 free seats have been added. Performances will be given here as usual, afternoons at 3.30 and evenings at 8.05, and the first program being the best by far ever offered at Norumbega. At the Mysterious Chalet will be found a complete change of entertainment from last season, many new electrical wonders having been introduced. A very strong new feature for the coming season that will specially delight the children is the camel, which has been secured for the express purpose of giving the little ones rides around the park. Mr. Anderson will again have the Casino, near Music Court, and such popular features of last season as the woman's cottage, merry-go-round, swing court, Indian colony, electric fountain, and the restaurant, with orchestra concerts on the veranda, will be continued. As a special feature of the opening day there will be concerts morning, afternoon and evening in Music Court, by Mullaly's Full Military Band.

Letter to J W Bacon

Dear Sir: Mr. H. H. Stephenson, Cashier of Oil City, (Pa.) Savings Bank writes: "Nine years ago I painted my house with your paint. It wore well, I want to use it again." That's nothing wonderful except for the fact that the coal region of Pennsylvania is pretty hard on paint with its oil, smoke and grime. All we see in it is that Devco is good for nine years sometimes. There are thousands of people that know it, and millions that don't.

There's the rub! We print for the millions; we want to make paint for the millions.

Mr. Cashier, do you know that Devco lead and zinc is worth twice as much as old-fashioned painter's paint, lead and oil, and costs no more? Is 100 per cent. a fair profit in your business?

Three-quarters of the people paint lead and oil mixed by hand; while the U. S. Government use lead, zinc and oil ground together by machinery—same proportions as Devco lead and zinc. The majority never is right about anything.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devco & Co.

THE REAL ISSUE.

Speech of Senator Clapp of Minnesota.

In the U. S. Senate on The Philippine Bill.

Mr. President, while the discussion of the pending bill has occasioned a great deal of debate the bill itself has been very little debated.

At the threshold of every disputed question there lies an initial fact and as to that fact there can be no half-way decision. The first thing for us to consider is whether today, without further ceremony, we will remain there until American authority is recognized and peace is restored.

Now, there is no dodging that issue. You may talk about colonial policies; you may talk about the ultimate solution of this question; but today in the decision of this bill we have to decide whether we shall go on or whether we shall retreat. I do not believe that there are any considerable number of people in this country who want to beat a retreat. I shall do the Democratic party the credit of saying that in my humble judgment they believe, as we do, that the first thing to do is to establish the supremacy of the American Government in the Philippine Islands.

The gentleman who so eloquently addressed the Senate this afternoon, (Mr. Bacon) addressed this body only as late as last February, and in that speech he enunciated the Democratic doctrine as consisting of the proposition that the first thing for the Filipinos to do and that which would best serve the interests and the welfare of the Filipinos is to lay down their arms and recognize the American authority; and he declared that that was then Democratic doctrine.

Then I say with that at the threshold of this inquiry the next question is what shall be done with reference to the temporary government of those islands? At this point there is a difference of opinion. Some say that we ought to announce to those islands that when peace is restored, when American authority is recognized, they shall be independent.

But, Mr. President, we have before us today the mistakes that have been made in the last three years. When war broke out with Spain a declaration was made by Congress which has embarrassed us at every step of the solution of the Spanish problem. No sooner was war over with Spain than the claim was made that we were violating our plighted faith in not immediately and at once giving Cuba her independence, and we were embarrassed from that time on by the fact that we had made a legislative declaration prematurely. In the light of that experience it is not wise to wait until the development of time demonstrates what must be the ultimate outcome of the Philippine question.

Now, it is said that there is no occasion for legislation in regard to the Philippine Islands. I think there can be no question but that the resolution passed at the last session of Congress conferring power upon the President was no enlargement of his constitutional power. It seems to me that it is a wise proposition to get as rapidly as we can from the military to the civil arm, and by the enactment of a civil code in part by Congress and in part by the authority constituted by Congress in the Philippine Islands to teach those people that we are as rapidly as we can getting away from the military arm and approaching the civil.

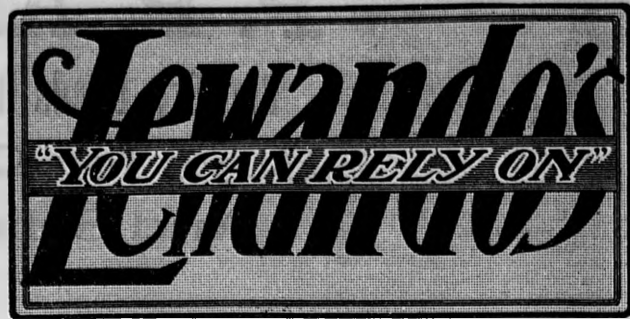

Now, there is another proposition to be stated. If the Cuban Republic proves a success it will be largely due to the fact that for three years she had the guiding protection of a nation which has been drilled and schooled to government. It seems to me that it would be absurd to suppose for one moment that today the Filipinos are capable of governing themselves, and this bill by a gradual process places in the hands of the Filipinos an ever-extending self-government as they develop their capacity for that purpose.

Objection is made that the bill leaves the status of the Filipino undefined. Of course, we must all recognize the fact that in the breast of the Filipino, as in the breast of the Anglo-Saxon, there is an insatiable desire to rule and regulate; but we say in all candor to the Filipino, in view of the sacrifice that we have made, in view of the cost of blood and treasure in the securing to the Filipino that which he enjoys today, he might well content himself in patience for a little while as long as we bear a larger proportion of the burden than he does. When we look back and reflect that only a few years ago the hateful and pained hand of Spain rested on those islands, when we realize that for three centuries the Filipino had no participation in government, it seems to me that he might well be asked to restrain his patience for a little time while we, bearing the heavier part of the burden, solve that part of this problem which devolves upon us.

Mr. President, the Filipino is an incident in this problem. If we fail in finally bringing salvation to the Philippine Islands it means loss and failure to human history. On the other hand, if this Republic of ours works out the problem wisely, judiciously, and successfully, it is a contribution to the cause of human progress worth more in the end than the welfare of any one people, wherever the people may be.

I say, then, in dealing with this question, while we must not lose sight of the Filipino, we can not lose sight of the obligation which rests upon us, and we must ask the Filipino to wait with patience until the time comes when other promises and other conditions may be his lot and his fortune.

Mr. President, this debate has presented a strange spectacle. It has presented a most strange spectacle this afternoon, in keeping with the character of the debate from its very inception. When the debate commenced we began to regard with stories of atrocities of American soldiers. The horrors of all history were paraded, and in all history no parallel found to the atrocious conduct of the American soldiers in the Philippine Islands.

Mr. President, there is a law of nature recognized in the administration of human law, and that is that there is a cause for every human action. That cause may be simply a cause; it may be a palliation; it may be an excuse; it may amount to an absolute justification.

Why, then, were Senators so swift to present the character of the atrocities committed by the American soldiers, and so slow to present the cause for whatever that cause might be worth?

We have been practically told in this debate that it made no difference; in other words, when a man is charged with an offense the fact is proved, and when he begins to present the evidence of the conditions surrounding that act he is told that that is immaterial. Already they reply upon the presumption—and if they did it was a safe presumption—that in the American people and in the Republican party there would come a swift vindication, not in the performance of a duty, but in the exercise of a great privilege.

Again this afternoon we witnessed the same spectacle. We are told of these camps, and yet the evidence from which all the stories of those camps is taken contains the orders, the story of the condition of those camps, the justification for their existence, if it is a justification, a cause if it is only a cause.

During the early part of the debate we were informed that the half had not been told, and some who did not have time day by day to read the proceedings of the committee sat in breathless alarm waiting for the other half to be told. It was told one day when the junior Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Lodge), gave the other half of the story; and from that moment there came up a muttering of disapproval by the people of this country for the unwarranted attack upon the Army until the men who had made that attack shifted their base and said that it was not a question of responsibility with the soldier, but the responsibility rested upon the Senator from Massachusetts and the Republican Senators of this body.

Yesterday we listened to a most eloquent address from the junior Senator from Iowa (Mr. Dolliver), and while we could say "amen" to all that he said, with all due deference to him, with all due respect for him, I propose to go one step further in the discussion of the question of responsibility. All human nature demonstrates the truth that while individuals may be considered as factors in history the fact is that as a rule they are nothing more or less than instruments. It has been said by some that our career which ended in our getting in the Philippine Islands was destiny. It has been said by others that it was the act of God himself. If we adhere to the maxim, vox populi, vox Dei, then it was the voice of God, for it was the voice of the American people.

I would detract nothing from the credit that is due to William Mc-Kinley, but from the time some dastard hand fired the Maine in the harbor of Havana and hurled American seamen into eternity, neither McKinley nor any other man was great enough to stay the course and progress of events in this country. War was then as inevitable as the ebb and flow of the ocean's tide. Much as he regretted it, much as he deplored it, it would have been impossible for him or anyone else to have prevented it.

I would detract nothing from the credit due to the men who signed the treaty of peace in Paris. They were presented to us yesterday as men of standing, of patriotism, of learning, and of courage. It is true that that commission had it in their power to deal with the details of the treaty, but that commission when we take into consideration the force of a developed public sentiment, was powerless to bring about any other result than the expulsion of Spain from those islands and the retention of the islands by the United States until in the process of time an ultimate determination as to the islands themselves could be arrived at.

About the time that the treaty of peace was signed an event occurred in the Philippine Islands. It may be difficult to fix just where the responsibility was for the conflict that broke out between the followers of Aguinaldo and the American soldiers; but wherever the responsibility lay, which ever side inaugurated that conflict, the greatest power and the wisest judgment on earth—for the wisest judgment on earth is the deliberate judgment of the American people—pronounced a verdict as to what should be done in view of the conditions that arose from that outbreak, and at the last Presidential election, in no unmeaning terms, they pronounced their verdict as to the condition then confronting us—that the policy of the American people in the retention of peace and in the establishment of the national authority in those islands should go on until they were both accomplished.

Then I say, if you want to fix the responsibility for our being in the Philippine Islands today, you have got to fix it upon the American people. From the start to finish, from the day when the Maine was blown up until today, there has been no time when the men who assumed to shape and mold public affairs could have abandoned the general policy which has been pursued with reference to those islands.

But, Mr. President, there is another responsibility. We have just listened to the eloquent senior Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Hoar.) He has asked us how it is that at one time the Filipino was a friend, and how it is that today we find him in arms against our Government. With all due respect to the distinguished Senator, let me remind this body that there is a reason for that change. If the words of the Senator from Georgia, (Mr. Bacon,) thundered into the ears of the Filipinos in 1901, had been continuously echoed down to this day, peace would have been established in the Philippine Islands. It was my fortune to enter this

Literary Notes.

The June Atlantic offers an unusually long and varied line of especially seasonable contents. The series of outdoor papers which began in the May number with John Corbin's "The Modern Chivalry," is continued with a brilliant paper on "Golf" by William Garret Brown; it will be followed in July by an article on "Sailing," by W. J. Henderson of the New York Times. Lino's Eglington gives a charming description of "The Nightingale's Song," rendering a vocal melody also into musical notation. Domestic and social topics include "The Newspaper Industry," a trenchant paper by Brooke Fisher, which vigorously follows up the newspaper "Confessions," of the April Atlantic; an impressive sketch of "Arizona," by Harriet Monroe, who gives a picture of a stage of civilization now passed or passing, while Charles M. Skinner contributes an amusing description of "The Electric Car," its causes and method, and its effects upon the daily life and manners of the community. Political subject embrace Lieut. Matthew E. Hanna's account of what the "United States has done for Public Education in Cuba," and an instructive and apposite discussion of Austria and Pan-Germanism by Remsen Whitehouse, attaché of our Italian Legation. Papers upon more academic subjects are Irving Babbitt's careful and scholarly article on "The Humanities," and Miss Scudder's "Democracy," and "Education," the second paper in her valuable series on Democracy. Bright short stories are furnished by Dora L. Hastings, John K. Mumford, and Shan Bullock. A new serial, "Our Lady of the Beches," by the Baroness von Hutten, will begin in the July number. William P. Foster, Dora R. Goodale, and Guy Wetmore Carry contribute poems. Among literary essays are an appreciative account of the character and works of the late Aubrey de Vere by Andrew J. George; "The Old Case of Poetry in a New Court," by Prof. Francis V. Gummere; a lively "Dialogue in Hades between Walt Whitman and Omar Khayyam as reported by Jean N. McIlwraith, Kidd's "Western Civilization," Belloc's "Robespierre," "Recent Dante Literature," and other Books New and Old are reviewed by various hands. The attractive Contributors' Club completes a brilliant number.

THE REAL ISSUE.

Senate one afternoon in January, 1901, and to listen for a few moments to the gentleman who temporarily preceded me in this body. He spoke in eulogy of Aguinaldo, comparing Aguinaldo, if I remember correctly, to Washington himself.

That is not all. There has been thundering into the ears of the Filipino, from the time the controversy began down to within five minutes of this moment, the threat and the prophecy that in the end the Filipino is doomed to be enslaved by the American people. If it is desired that America shall be established in the Philippine Islands, it would rather be the part of wisdom if not of patriotism to cease dining into the ears of the Filipinos that they stand in danger of being ultimately enslaved by the American nation.

Mr. President, there is nothing in the history of this nation to warrant that threat or to warrant that prophecy. Instead of holding up to the Filipino the danger that some day he will be the slave of this Government, how much wiser, how much more patriotic, how much more true to the history of our own people, would it be to point the Filipino to the history of our nation in dealing with this great problem of liberty. Our first struggle was a struggle for liberty; then there was our great struggle with ourselves in the great civil war. When in the annals of history was a conquered people treated with more generosity than on the occasion of the conclusion of that war? Is there anything in the conduct of the American people at the close of that struggle upon which to predicate the threat or the prophecy that the American people have in their hearts a desire and a purpose to enslave a people, to enslave a nation?

Ah, Mr. President, but there is another picture that we might with profit hold up day after day and night, after night to the gaze of the Filipino, as a suggestion to him that in the patience required for the solution of this problem he must have faith and confidence in the American people. A few years ago the people of this country, reaching a degree of impatience where they could hardly be restrained, were finally precipitated into a war with Spain. It would have been no trouble at all to have acquired Cuba and annexed it to our own country. But what did we do? Did we enslave Cuba? No, we not only lifted from Cuba the dark and heavy weight of Spanish misrule, but we threw around that island our great, strong arm and while in the path of peace and the methods of orderly administration the people of that island were enabled to form their own government, and today Cuba stands out among the nations of this earth; and there is no one on this earth today more glad that Cuba has been born among the American people. It is a democracy upon history. It is unfair to the history of the American people, to hold dangling forever before the Filipinos the picture of an enslaved people. Our history does not warrant it. On the other hand, we should hold before them the picture of our achievements and what we have done in the cause of human liberty. Instead of encouraging them constantly by the threat of enslavement and the threat of enslavement let us lead them to believe that in the patience required they must have faith and confidence in a nation that never has given token of anything but the most kind and generous treatment of every foe, great or small.
